Britain Announces New Ballistic Rocket

Designed for Launching From Underground, Statement Says

London — The British government announced today it is developing a medium-range ballistic rocket more advanced than the Americans now possess and is designing it for launching from underground sites.

A white paper published by the defense ministry said this weapon "is being developed on the highest priority in close co-operation" with the United States.

The white paper said the agreement under which American intermediate range ballistic missiles will be located in western Europe unless she could simultaneously knock out the vital strategic air bases in the U. S.

"She could at present have no reasonable hope of achieving this with manned bombers and it will take her several years to complete the development of an accurate intercontinental rocket and produce it in sufficient numbers."

The white paper expressed the hope that agreement will be reached by the world's powers on limiting arms.

Balance Not Upset

"Russia's successful launching of artificial satellites is evidence of her remarkable progress in rocket development. But it should not be thought that this has upset the balance of military power."

The government said balancing fears in east and west of mutual annihilation make a world war unlikely "for another generation or more."

The white paper said if the Soviet Union launched a major attack on the west, "even with conventional force only," the western powers "would have to hit back with strategic nuclear weapons."

The Soviet Union, for geographic reasons, is more vulnerable to rocket attack than

Try to Rescue From Ledge in Snowy Canyon

Youngster Falls 300 Feet While on Hike in California

San Bernardino, Calif. — A weak handwave from a boy lying helpless on a ledge in a snowy canyon spurred efforts today to reach him while he still is alive.

Fourteen-year-old Donald Burns fell 300 feet into the steep-sided, 900-foot-deep canyon yesterday while on a hike. Last night there was bone-chilling fog, rain and snow.

This morning at 7:23 a.m. rescuers peering down from the lip of the canyon saw the lad wave feebly. This was the first sign of life they had seen since darkness set in, when he cried and waved.

A team of four mountaineers descended the canyon slopes on ropes, while another team, using alpine gear, worked its way up from the bottom.

Believed Injured

The canyon is at the 5,000-foot level on 11,485-foot Mt. San Geronimo 35 miles east of here.

A sheriff's deputy who took part in an earlier rescue attempt said Donald Burns was lying in a grotesque position, as though he may have suffered bone fractures, when the officer spotted him last night with the aid of a portable searchlight. The boy's cries indicated he may have broken a leg.

Burns, of nearby Colton, was hiking with schoolmates yesterday when he slipped on an icy trail at the top of Big Falls. He fell with the cascading water about 100 feet to a ledge. The falling water pushed him from the ledge and he fell another 200 feet to the bottom of the canyon.

Look for Improved Economy by Next June

New York — Philip M. Talbott, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said today he expects the country's economy to improve at least by June.

However, he told reporters Jose Luis Cruz Salazar was the felt President Eisenhower's prediction of an upswing next month possibly was "a little Jan. 19 election, although he over-exuberant as to timing."

Asserts Commissioner Mack Has Acknowledged He Received 'Several Thousand' From Attorney

Washington — Bernard Schwartz testified today that Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack has acknowledged receiving "several thousand dollars" from an attorney for a Miami television station.

Schwartz, fired counsel for a special house subcommittee, told the subcommittee under oath the money was paid to Mack after he became a member of the FCC in the summer of 1955.

Mack was one of four commissioners who voted to grant the hotly contested Channel 10 in Miami to Public Service Television, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of National Airlines.

Schwartz said the money was paid to Mack in several checks by Thurman A. Whiteside, a Florida attorney who had been retained by Public Service for work in connection with its television application.

After contending there was "common knowledge" of a payment, Schwartz blasted at the committee.

Sought Subpenas

In spite of this, Schwartz said, a majority of the committee took no action to obtain financial records of a commissioner so as to establish "essential facts" in the case.

Schwartz said he had requested subpoenas for four individuals, submitted a memorandum in justification of his request, and it was "fair for me to assume" that Harris and other members knew all about it.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) said he had agreed to issue subpoenas for the four individuals, but not Commissioner Mack.

Harris identified the four individuals in question as George T. Baker, Robert Anderson, Thurman A. Whiteside and Paul H. Scott.

Harris said he and Rep. Moulder (D-Mo.), who was then committee chairman but who later resigned, agreed not to issue subpoenas for all the FCC commissioners but to invite them first by letter to appear before the committee.

Schwartz agreed that was correct, but insisted these subpoenas were not related directly to the Miami Channel 10 case. He declared no subpoena was issued upon Commissioner

Recover Bodies Of 5 Miners

West Virginia Men Crushed When Huge Slab Falls From Roof

Man, W. Va. — Rescue workers, laboring furiously but without hope, early today freed the crushed bodies of five miners from their tomb of slate deep in a coal mine at nearby Lundale.

A slab from the roof, weighing about 500 tons, fell on them with only split-second warning at 6:20 p.m. yesterday.

A sixth man was rescued 52 hours after the fall.

Glen Burchett, about 40, a drill man from Lundale, had his legs pinned by the fallen area of mass. He was reported in good condition at Man hospital with a fractured pelvis.

A seventh escaped virtually unhurt, Estes S. Woods, operator of a mechanical coal loader on which he and the other six were making repairs, was knocked down and bruised. He was saved by the machine which, though nearly flattened, life began cringing the earth.

The naval research laboratory announced yesterday that rescue teams went in with tracking stations no longer were receiving any signals from the fallen slab, heavier than the normal cargo in 10 coal-pound metal tube coursing through space at about 18,000 feet.

Finally at 3:15 a.m., seven miles an hour, Signals from the comotive pulling one car rolled transmitter, a lower-powered one outside. In the car were the set, continue sending back vital life of the five dead miners, scientific information for throwing it out on grounds of irrelevancy was denied.

Ike and Mamie Leave Capital For Georgia

Ready for Vacation At Plantation of Treasury Ex-Chief

The temperature here was a crisp 25, but the day was mostly sunny and there was no snow. By contrast, the president's destination at Thomasville, Ga., had snow last night.

Eisenhower had delayed his departure for a day, partly on the forecast that the Georgia weather would warm up late this week.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, the president left in his plane Columbine III for Spence Air Force base at Moultrie, Ga. The flight normally takes about two hours.

Guest of Humphreys

The Eisenhowers will be guests at the plantation of George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Humphrey.

Eisenhower, still having traces of a cold, contracted in Augusta, Ga., nearly two weeks ago, hoped to find warmer weather at Thomasville so he could hunt and play golf.

Eisenhower smiled and waved as he went up the ramp to his plane. He wore a blue and white muffler under his black overcoat against a chill wind.

The departure was held up 22 minutes to await the arrival by commercial plane from New York of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis D. Slater, personal friends of the Eisenhowers.

The Slaters were given a ride on the Columbine III to visit friends in the Thomasville area.

One of Two Radios Aboard Explorer No Longer Transmitting

Washington — One of the explorer's two radio voices was silent today, less than two weeks after the American satellite was stationed at the U. S. embassy there and continued after he returned to America in 1953. The maximum sentence upon conviction could be life imprisonment.

But Rhodes' chief counsel, Lt. Col. John F. Hummel, told the court yesterday the prosecution has produced no actual proof there was a conspiracy or that Rhodes was part of one.

Swirling around the case were prosecution contentions that "a pretty large and dangerous conspiracy" has been established and defense complaints that the trial has "compounded hearsay on top of hearsay."

The prosecution position is that the 40-year-old Rhodes was part of an espionage conspiracy that originated in Moscow while he was stationed at the U. S. embassy there and continued after he returned to America in 1953. The maximum sentence upon conviction could be life imprisonment.

Texas Senator Heads Group With 10-Point Plan Aiming To Avert Further Downturn

Washington — Senate Democrats are crafting a 10-point anti-recession program which party leaders plan to give a speedy start through congress.

The program is being put together by individual committees under the guidance of the Democratic policy committee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. It will represent the party's answer to demands that congress act before the business slump gets worse.

Johnson is understood to have told his colleagues that while he is opposed to a "gloom and doom" attitude, he thinks immediate steps must be taken to combat unemployment which now has reached 4 1/2 millions.

In this connection, he has asked committees operating under Sens. Fulbright (D-Ark), Sparkman (D-Ala), Anderson (D-NM), Hill (D-Ala), Kerr (D-Okla.) and Gore (D-Tenn) to come up speedily with legislative proposals to cover a wide field of government activity to bolster the economy.

As Johnson views the program, it would shape up like this:

1. A comprehensive housing bill aimed at getting this limping industry going full blast.
2. Legislation to permit federal reserve banks to make loans to small businesses which do the most good — if there is a tax cut.

Rayburn was asked at a news conference about possible congressional steps in view of the economic downswing and mounting unemployment.

Senate Democratic Leader Johnson (D-Texas) is helping shape up a multi-point anti-recession program.

Rayburn said the leaders plan to "review the situation and see where a tax cut, if there is one, will do the most good, and determine whether the budget will stand it."

certify they can't get credit in ordinary channels.

3. Passage of a post office construction bill.

4. Authorizations to put on extra shifts of workers on public works projects for which congress has provided the money.

5. Construction of military housing in areas with soft spots of unemployment.

6. Action to start and speed up with extra shifts work on reclamation projects which have been authorized by congress.

7. Repeal of the pay-as-you-go provision so the interstate highway program can be speeded up.

8. Authorization for additional hospitals to be built under the Hill Burton act.

9. Action to authorize the planning of new projects aimed at providing more business for basic industries.

10. A works progress administration program to be thrown into the breach if other efforts fail to stem the recession.

Johnson, who had experience with the national youth administration and the works program.

9 Indicted for Plotting Revolt Against Cuba

New York — Carlos Prío Socarras, exiled former president of Cuba, and eight others were indicted today by a federal grand jury for conspiring "to set on foot" and provide means and money with which to take part in military expeditions and enterprises from the United States against Cuba.

The former Cuban head, now in Miami, was charged with the others with conspiring to organize committees and groups to effectuate the organization of military units and also with recruiting persons to establish military training camps in the Dominican Republic, Mexico, Haiti and the United States.

The nine also are charged with causing the purchase of motor ships and causing the vessels to sail from the United States with arms, men, uniforms and implements of war.

The indictment was opened before Judge Edward Weinfeld, who issued warrants for the defendants at the request of William F. Tompkins, assistant attorney general in charge of the justice department's internal security division.

Preparations Continue for Federation of Iraq, Jordan

Spokesman Says Ceremony to Take Place Today or Tomorrow

BY TOM MASTERSON

Amman, Jordan — P— Preparations continued today for signing the proclamation federating the kingdoms of Iraq and Jordan. A government spokesman said the ceremony may take place late today or tomorrow after Iraq's crown prince Abdul Ilah arrives.

Ilah, who was regent of Iraq until King Faisal turned 17, wields considerable power in his home country. The delay in his arrival was believed to be one of the things delaying the proclamation.

The new federation regarded as a balance to the new united Arab republic of Egypt and Syria received a message from pro-western King Saud of Saudi Arabia expressing his endorsement.

Saudi Might Join

Official sources already have said Saudi might join the federation if Iraq puts out of the American-sponsored Baghdad pact.

Jordanian officials are trying to avoid giving the impression that the new federation is a challenge and an answer to the U. A. R. The official Jordanian line outlines the benefits to both countries and especially to Jordan's troubled finances.

Oil-rich Iraq can be expected to provide the money in the new partnership. Hussein's kingdom carved out of the desert by the British after World War I as a present for Hashimite support in the fighting has difficult access to the sea and few resources.

'Key to Problem'

Al-Jahad, a leading Jordanian newspaper, went to the heart of the problem by describing the federation as "the key to the right solution of the Palestinian problem." Jordan has a long frontier with Israel and recently has increased its hostility to the Jews as a demonstration of solidarity with other Arab nations.

The newspaper also called the federation "a strong shield which will repel communism and a cornerstone of cherished Arab unity."

Even before the new federation came into existence, a threat to it was reported in Lebanon. Beirut newspapers reported that the Hashimite ruler, the former ruler of Palestine, invited other Palestine Arab refugees to Cairo to proclaim a union of the non-Israeli sections of Palestine with the U. A. R.

Those sections of the Egyptian governed Gaza Strip and the western bank of the Jordan River, King Hussein's grandfather annexed the Jordan area in 1949, but this has never been recognized by the multi-

Fund Scandal May Reshuffle India Cabinet

New Delhi — Prime Minister Nehru today accepted the resignation of Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari after an inquiry held him "ultimately responsible for a highly improper government stock purchase."

Krishnamachari's resignation climaxed India's biggest political scandal since it won independence in 1947. It may touch off a major reshuffle in Nehru's cabinet. Meanwhile, Nehru himself took over the finance ministry.

Acceptance of the resignation was announced after parliament received a report criticizing the investment of $3,275,000 of the nationalized life insurance corporation funds in the industrial empire of Haridas Mundhra, a wealthy Calcutta business man.

The investments were made through the finance ministry. Mundhra was a flamboyant personality and financial adventurer, who used dubious methods. The report by Bombay Chief Justice H. C. Chagla said Chagla held a 1-man inquiry into the transaction.

The report said the insurance funds were invested in some of Mundhra's enterprises, to help him out of financial difficulties.

Leonor Gandhi, Nehru's son-in-law, has charged in parliament that the stocks were bought at artificially high prices and that soon after the investments were made, the stocks dropped more than 25 per cent.

Mundhra's associates claimed reverses for him might have affected the Calcutta cotton market where he is a leading trader.

Krishnamachari is widely known in the United States and Europe where he has been instrumental in getting badly needed financial assistance for this hard pressed country.

Playwright Collapses While Attending Broadway Opening

New York — P— Pulitzer prize-winning playwright George S. Kaufman collapsed Wednesday night while attending the opening of a Broadway play. An hour later a friend at Kaufman's Park Avenue apartment said the writer was feeling fine.

The 68-year-old Kaufman, also a producer, was stricken midway through the second act of "The Inheritance" starring Sir Laurence Olivier.

Doctors who examined Kaufman at the Royale theater diagnosed his case as a gastric upset.

New York Family Haunted by Jigging Bottles Popping Tops

Seaford, N. Y. — P— An expert electrician today enters the case of the "bouncing bottles" which blow their tops—a 10-day enigma which has the Herrmann family in a tizzy.

On Feb. 3 the first of all sorts of bottles mysteriously began doing ups, capsizing, or literally blowing their screw type tops. The detonating containers have held liquids of all kinds ranging from perfume to washing bleach to holy water in all parts of the 6-room ranch house.

Suspension of the probable cause of the phenomena have poured in on the Herrmanns—Lunges, his wife Lucille, a daughter, Lucille, 13, and a son, James, 11, 12.

Mrs. Herrmann yesterday pinned her hopes of ultimate solution on another test scheduled for today. She said:

"A man from the Long Island lighting company is coming with some kind of testing machine to check all the wiring in the house."

The bottle business she added, "doesn't scare me because there has to be a reason for everything."

But at this point she continued wistfully, "I don't even want to know what the reason is. I just want to get it over with."

Make Good on Menshikov Talk U. S. Tells Reds

New Ambassador Would Lift 'All Kinds of Restrictions'

BY WARREN ROGERS JR.

Washington — P— The United States is going to give Russia a chance to make good on its new ambassador's call for "lifting all kinds of restrictions—including those on travel." Amable Mikhail Menshikov swept through town yesterday like a 1-man peace crusade. He had two get acquainted visits to the state department and one to Vice President Nixon.

"I'm in favor of lifting all kinds of restrictions," he said in a loud happy voice on Capitol Hill, waving his arms. "That would be better for everybody."

He gave short shrift to reporters' questions about a 3-month-old formal U. S. note to Russia suggesting an end to off limits areas in both countries. When they asked was Russia going to reply?

The state department has been asking itself the same question. Thanks to Menshikov's statement officials said today they will ask it of the Soviet government, either through the ambassador or in another formal note.

Menshikov looked puzzled when reporters asked him about it yesterday. "I haven't studied that question," he said. "But the restrictions are being moved all the time."

Actually, they are being added to. The U. S. note, last Nov. 11, told Russia some areas were being reopened in the United States to travel by Soviet citizens, and others were being closed. The net increase in closed areas was 14 per cent, making 30 per cent of U. S. Geography off limits to Russians. The guide rule is strict reciprocity.

U. S. officials privately consider the whole thing rather foolish. Recently they were considering just lifting all U. S. restrictions without demanding that the Russians do likewise. Now, however, they said they want to see if the Soviet government is as opposed to restrictions as the new Soviet ambassador.

Need More Knowledge To Fix Rules on Space

Legal Adviser Raises Question of Ownership of Orbiting Satellite

BY LEWIS GUTICK

Washington — P— A state money was made available to department witness has told day.

Among others, Becker opposed any immediate action on proposals for a special center for space regulation establishment of a U. N. convention for the purpose and giving the task to the international civil aviation organization.

Usually ownership relates to capability to grab hold of it and I don't know what they (the Russians) could do about Sputnik or what their remedy would be if we were to pick up this piece they said fell on the west coast," he testified.

The Russians originally claimed that a part of the rocket of Sputnik 1, which itself went into orbit later, fell on U. S. territory. They asked its return. U. S. officials said the rocket fell in the south Pacific.

Becker said however that the United States would be at a disadvantage in staking out territorial claims on the moon if others get there and this country doesn't.

Becker, whose position makes him the top policymaker on these questions under Secretary of State Dulles and President Eisenhower, spoke out against various space control proposals Tuesday during a closed session of a house foreign affairs subcommittee on national security. A slightly censored version of his testimony doesn't.

Mother Admits Beating 3 1/2 Year Old Son, Gets Two Years in Prison

Lebanon, Mo. — P— A 24-year-old mother was sentenced to two years in prison yesterday after pleading guilty to beating her 3 1/2-year-old son so severely he is unable to walk.

The child, David Lee Black, was brought to a hospital here 20 days ago near death from injuries and malnutrition. The mother, Ache Davis, and the boy's father, Bert Black, were charged with child mistreatment, adultery and gross lewdness.

David Lee, still hospitalized, is reported improved but unable to walk. Miss Davis, two other children, Gene, 3 1/2, and Catherine, 1 1/2, have been placed in foster homes by court order.

Election Defeat Casts Gloom Over British Conservative Party

Present Government Runs Poor Third In North England Textile City Vote

BY HAL R. COOPER

London — P— A shattering defeat in an election to fill a house of commons vacancy east of London today over support of Britain's conservative government.

The waning popularity of the conservative rulers headed by Prime Minister Macmillan was pointed up dramatically in the north England textile city of Rochdale.

The conservatives not only lost their grip on the district's house of commons seat but ran a poor third to both the opposition labor party and the normally weak liberals.

Final returns from the voting yesterday gave laborite Jack McCann 22,133 votes, liberal Ludovic Kennedy 17,603 and conservative John Parkinson 9,827.

Expected Loss Conservative leaders had been reconciled in advance to loss of the election but the magnitude of the defeat came as a surprise. In a straight conservative labor fight in the 1955 general election the conservative candidate—who died recently—beat McCann 26,518 to 22,828.

The outcome was no great plum in the labor party's pudding since it too lost ground. Those who previously voted conservative obviously switched to Kennedy, the liberal in protest against the government's trend that has been growing in recent special parliamentary elections.

The Rochdale result said the conservative Daily Mail shows that the intervention of liberal candidates at the next election may rob them (the conservatives) of many seats.

Bitter News The Daily Telegraph which strongly supports the conservative party, said the election outcome "should cause the government very serious misgivings."

The pro-conservative Daily Express termed the result "bitter homecoming news for Mr. Macmillan, who returns to London tomorrow from an Asian commonwealth tour."

Roemer Stands on 12-Year Record; Mitchell Lists 15-Point Platform

Mayor Points to His Education And Experience

Mayor Robert L. Roemer, opposed for reelection April 1, told Downtown Kiwanians Wednesday noon he stands on his 12-year record.

The mayor cited achievements of his administration, begun in 1946, and stressed his education, experience and integrity. He summarized his 12 years in office as "good, clean government."

Roemer listed these achievements of his administration:

1. Construction or start of construction on seven new schools, the first school buildings erected in the city for 50 years.
2. Rebuilding of the public library.
3. A new S. Lawe street bridge, reconstruction of Memorial drive bridge and start of plans for the College-to-Candee high level bridge and a new S. Oneida street drawbridge.
4. Two new fire stations and a police station.
5. A new golf course clubhouse.
6. Purchase of new equipment for the police and fire departments and adding on many more men to both departments.
7. Many miles of paving and resurfacing of streets and many more miles of curb and gutter installations.
8. Widening of Wisconsin avenue from one end to the other, reconstruction of W. College Memorial drive - N. Richmond street intersection and the extension of W. College avenue.
9. Installation of $1,250,000 in storm sewers in the last four years to alleviate flooded basements, mostly on the north side.
10. Milk inspection that prohibits selling of all but Grade A milk.
11. Improvement of garbage

12. Rodent control and mosquito spraying programs.
13. Construction of a large water storage tank on N. Oneida street and spending of $750,000 to improve the water plant.
14. A 36 per cent growth of the city through 11 annexations, with a population increase of about 15,000.
15. An increase in city-owned parking facilities from two lots and 100-car space to 10 lots and 850-car space.
16. Shelters erected in Linwood, Erb, City and Lutz parks.
17. An industrial development park.

"These," he said are some of the accomplishments of my administration and I am proud of each and every one of them. These many improvements have been accomplished many times because as your mayor, I recommended them and worked for them."

What was accomplished, he said, was done with a minimum demand for taxes. "Our tax rate here in Appleton compares favorably with the tax rates in other cities of Wisconsin. As a matter of fact," he said, "Appleton's full value rate is the lowest in the state. So I want to impress upon you that we pay less property tax in Appleton than in any other city in the state."

What About Future?
Ahead, he said, is the building of the College-to-Candee bridge, the S. Oneida street drawbridge, a secondary sewage treatment plant by 1961, a new swimming pool on the south side, the extension westward of W. Washington street, more annexations to assure continued city growth, a north side fire station and more schools.

"The office of mayor," Roemer said, "is a full-time job and I have no other business interests which take time that should be devoted to the city administration. Back in 1946, when I was elected mayor, I promised — and I quote — a good, clean, progressive administration with the lowest possible tax rate consistent with good government. So, today I stand on my record. I believe I have given the citizens of Appleton a good, clean, progressive administration."

Pushed For Meters
Roemer said he was particularly proud of his work in alleviating the parking problem and in helping start an industrial development movement. He said he pushed for meters on the streets, with the funds to go toward buying off-street parking, more of all the city's industrial development come to get the money," he said. Mitchell, a committee which produced a 40-acre industrial park

Alderman Says He'd Work for City Auditorium

First ward Ald. Clarence A. Mitchell outlined a 15-point platform in his opening talk of the mayor's race Wednesday noon before the downtown Kiwanis club.

He said he would work for these things to help develop Appleton and the Fox Cities area, if elected:

1. A municipal auditorium.
2. An advisory committee of citizens to aid the city administration in planning a development program.
3. A review of the city's zoning laws.
4. Development of a long range school program.
5. Cultivation of friendship between the city and residents of the surrounding area.
6. A continuing drive to obtain a state office building.

Government Pledges
He said he would work for these things within the city government, if elected:

1. Establishment of a central repair shop for all city vehicles and an all-out safety program, including one for teenagers.
2. Periodic meetings between the administration and the city's county board supervisors.
3. Sharing of employees and purchase for the city in January.

About his educational background and experience, he said: "I am sure you will want a mayor whose educational background is very good. Let me briefly outline my background for you. I was raised in Appleton, attended St. Mary's parochial school, graduated from Appleton High school and from Lawrence college in 1933. At Lawrence I majored in business administration and took courses in business law and accounting. "I am sure you will want a man who has proven executive ability. You will want a man who, because of his experience and his education, has demonstrated his ability to do a good job for the city of Appleton. "You will want a man who works for the public good, not for special groups, but for the good of the entire city. I think these two qualifications—education and experience—plus integrity in office should be important factors."

And, in reply to a question after the talks, he "laid it on the line," as he put it, about the prospects for continued hikes in taxes. "If the people want more schools, more sewers, more on the streets, with the funds to go toward buying off-street parking, more of all the city's industrial development come to get the money," he said. Mitchell, a committee which produced a 40-acre industrial park equipment by the various departments.

4. Periodic meetings between all city officials and department heads.
5. A council committee on committees to choose committees for standing committees.
6. A review of tax expenditures.
7. A city council school committee.

"We probably should look forward," Mitchell said, "to having a municipal auditorium of some type in or near the city whereby it would be supported by the civic groups and private groups and somewhat, probably, by the city of Appleton itself."

The building, he said, would be "a place where you have your youth. . . . If when you have conventions in the city of Appleton, you'd have a proper place for holding these conventions. Local groups, service clubs and different organizations certainly could make use of this type of building. It could be a focal point for the city."

School Program
The advisory committee on development would hold "as many meetings as necessary to develop an over all program for the city, a program which people would go along with wholeheartedly and support," he said.

Mitchell listed the setting aside of lands for schools and parks within each newly annexed tract as a way in which an overall plan could work. If, later, it was found they were not needed, they could be sold, he said.

A new look at zoning is needed, he said. "To meet the future needs of business, residential and multiple residential areas."

Mitchell also pledged all-out backing of all the city's business sections, "College avenue, the south side of the river and the north side."

Farm Retirement Plan's Fate Depends on Maine Farmers

Washington — The decision in Maine on an experimental program for retiring whole farms from crop production may determine the agriculture department's action on extending the program to all 48 states next year.

The department announced Friday that the trial program was dead this year in three other states — Illinois, Nebraska and Tennessee—because most bids submitted by farmers for retiring farms were regarded as too high.

The fate of the program in Maine—the only other state in which the bid program is being tried this year—will not be known until the bid period closes Feb. 28. The bidding period in other states closed the end of January.

In other states, farmers are being permitted to retire land—even whole farms—but only on an acreage payment figure set by the department itself. Funds for the land retirement are provided under the soil bank program, whose purpose is to help curtail production until surpluses are reduced.

Department officials did not hide their disappointment over the results in Illinois, Nebraska and Tennessee. In Illinois, for example the average amount farmers asked for retiring land was $40 an acre. This compares with $12 being offered in the state under the regular part of the program.

The average bids in Nebraska and Tennessee were slightly more than $25, or more than double the regular rates. Officials said they hope for better results in Maine.

Air Force Frees $21 Million for Wisconsin Base

Washington — The air force Tuesday released $21,439,000 as it moved ahead with plans to build a new air base at Kansasville in southeast Wisconsin.

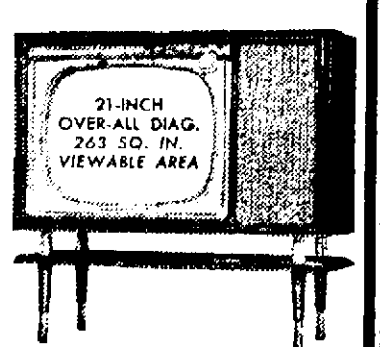

The funds are to be used for runways, parking apron, utilities, fuel storage, portable water supplies and a sewage system at Richard I. Bong air force base to be built in Racine and Kenosha counties. The announcement was made by the office of the late Rep. Smith (R-Racine).

The announcement came a few hours after the army corps of engineers said in Chicago that bids will be advertised on Feb. 24. Notice has been sent to prospective bidders.

The sprawling air base will be a multi-mission installation with a squadron of interceptor jet fighters and a wing of medium bombers under the strategic air command.

Work on the base is expected to start in not more than 120 days.

Schwartz Says Cash Paid in Miami TV Deal

Mack to produce his financial records.

Under questioning as to what committee members he had that any WPA type of program told about his belief money ought to be held in reserve was passed. Schwartz replied to be used only as a last resort if the recession shows signs of deepening despite other measures.

"Who else?" asked Harris. "I did not directly tell any other member of the subcommittee," Schwartz said.

But, Schwartz argued, it was "common knowledge" that money was passed in the case — it appeared in newspapers and in the column of Drew Pearson.

"This was common knowledge I assumed the members were aware of, and I still so assume," he asserted.

Schwartz, who looked worn and told friends as he went to the committee hearing he was catching a cold, sat at the witness table flanked by counsel and by his wife, who is an attorney.

Perhaps reflecting the tensions of the moment, there was a bit of a boggle in getting Schwartz sworn as a witness.

Room Packed
Harris, administering the oath, asked Schwartz whether he swore that "the truth you are about to give shall be the truth" and so on.

As laughter swept the chamber, Harris said he meant "evidence" instead of truth, and then decided he had better start over again and administer the oath afresh.

The hearing room was packed in anticipation that Schwartz would give sensational testimony.

It developed in a long Harris-Schwartz exchange that Schwartz had told Harris of his belief money was passed in the Miami case. Presumably, he too knew when he was dismissed had not named Harris as a subcommittee member whom he had informed because Harris federal communications committee member missioner.

of the subcommittee. Harris is chairman of the parent house commerce committee.

Schwartz said he had assumed-gress administration during the depression of the '30s, has told his colleagues he wants no leaf raking projects.

WPA Plan in Reserve

For that reason the Democratic leader has contended that any WPA type of program ought to be held in reserve until the recession shows signs of deepening despite other measures.

Johnson has avoided public comment on President Eisenhower's expression of confidence yesterday that the economic downturn has about run its course and that March should see a start toward increased employment.

But other senators made it clear they are not as optimistic as the president. One of these, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said "the administration has got to do more than issue statements."

Aiken said the building of ed Harris would inform the other members of his committee.

Harris said he considered it "the better part of judgment" not to pass on to the whole committee the information Schwartz had said he had about a payment of money until the subpoenas issued in the case had been served.

Moulder said he did not tell other subcommittee members anything about "any allegation of bribery or money having been passed" but only advised them generally of the Channel 10 case and told them there would be a briefing by Schwartz. This was the briefing which had been set for Monday, but was not held when the issue of Schwartz' dismissal boiled up instead.

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.) and other members pressed Schwartz to prove that belief money was passed in the majority of the subcommittee had not named Harris as a subcommittee member whom he had informed because Harris federal communications committee member missioner.

Williams insisted he knew nothing of any evidence of such payment, adding, "as a matter of fact, I don't know it yet."

confidence is needed to help get business on the upgrade and that to do this "it is essential to convince the public by deed as well as by word."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he hopes Eisenhower is correct in his forecast "but I have grave doubts that he is."

Secretary of Commerce Weeks has predicted unemployment will reach five million, and Mansfield added that "it well may reach six million before the upturn."

"I hope I'm wrong, but it's hard to reconcile the president's appraisal with the conditions as they are now in the mining, auto, oil, textile and other fields," Mansfield said.

"They are all in a slump."

But Republican officials, in see a pickup in jobs and a substantial increase in industrial activity by mid-summer," MITchell added.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson devoted most of his talk in Salt Lake City to the farm program, but he likewise referred to the unemployment level as a contribution to air pollution.

"Temporary problem."

Alleges False Charges

"So you find these professional pessimists playing up Russian achievements and running down our own," he said.

"You find some of them making utterly false charges against Republicans. You find some of them slandering the president. You find some of them trying to scare the country into an old-fashioned depression."

In Philadelphia, Secretary of the Treasury Anderson said there are favorable factors "which indicate that a general upturn may not be too long postponed."

Residential housing construction has turned slightly upward, he said, and the level of personal income has held up well.

The economy will be helped both by federal projects and by an increase he said is evident in state and local projects.

In New York Secretary of La-

Foot, Makarios Confer in Greece

Athens, Greece — Sir Hugh Foot, the British governor of Cyprus, and Archbishop Makarios, the exiled leader of the Greek majority on the island, held a surprise 30-minute conference today.

Their brief meeting in Makarios' hotel room apparently did nothing to break the impasse between Britain and Greece over the troubled British crown colony.

The foreign ministers of the two nations also have been meeting here. They finished their conference today and reported no substantial progress.

hor Mitchell said that despite the current rise in joblessness, Republicans this year can campaign on an administration economic record "unmatched in our history."

"In March we can expect to see a pickup in jobs and a substantial increase in industrial activity by mid-summer," MITchell added.

Auto Industry Asked to Help Reduce Smog

BY JACK LEEFER

Los Angeles — Thirteen

experts, convinced that smog has become a nationwide menace to health and happiness, are to meet in Washington tomorrow to put the heat on the auto industry.

The group is an advisory council to the U.S. surgeon general on air pollution problems. It is made up of scientists, medical men and air pollution specialists.

Its contentions are these: The automobile is the last, into all new cars that will effectively filter, or burn, uncontrollable, major source of the noxious fumes belched from auto exhausts, that change chemical composition in the air to form smog.

Unless cut off, the fumes will irritate.

Sparkplug of the advisory council and perhaps the nation's leading anti-smog crusader, is S. Smith Griswold. Calling the experts intend to ask the automakers in and trying to persuade executives of the industry to go all out in crash program for an exhaust device to reduce control device is his idea. Such to the unemployment level as a contribution to air pollution.

They privately express the belief that automen have dragged their feet on working up an anti-smog device, apparently under the impression that the smog-car problem is peculiar to the Los Angeles region, where the loudest outcries have been heard.

Serious Problem

The facts are, say the experts, that half a dozen major cities—including auto headquarters itself, Detroit — already consider auto exhaust a serious smog problem, and more than 200 cities deem it a factor in their air pollution picture.

The group's goal: A cheap—$25 to $50—device to be built into all new cars that will effectively filter, or burn, uncontrollable, major source of the noxious fumes belched from auto exhausts, that change chemical composition in the air to form smog.

Unless cut off, the fumes will irritate.

Welfare Institutions Headed for Most Detailed Examination by Legislators

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The state's big and costly system of welfare institutions is headed for the most detailed examination by the legislative arm of the state government that it has ever had.

Legislators during the last decade and a half have poured millions of dollars into enlargement and improvement of prisons, hospitals, colonies and other facilities. They have cheerfully voted other huge sums for new staff services and equipment. But relatively few of them have ever seen the institutions or know much about them first hand.

That deficiency at least three item committees of the legislature are now about to repair. The several legislative inspection patrols, moreover, will saliently forth with the blessing and the active encouragement of the state welfare administration.

Name Committees

The committees that will audit the work and the problems of the institutions are these:

A special legislative citizens' commission on mental health, which will examine the state mental institutions as a first order of business, when it is formally organized soon.

A legislative institutions committee of visitors, a perennial agency, which has already started a series of unannounced tours of state institutions to find them as they are found by patients and visitors.

A special state committee on state government operations, counting in its membership some of the most influential members of the legislature, and which has resolved to make a special study of the financing and the work of the state department of public welfare. That investigation has been described as punitive in some quarters, but it was clear from the discussion between Director Wilbur Schmidt and the committee members at a session here that he does not so regard it. Schmidt also urged the legislators in the most fervent terms to see his institution for themselves, in his company or independently.

Schmidt is aware that some of the legislators have critical questions about the institutions, including the very high costs of operation in some of them. He said:

"As head of the agency, I think I have an explanation for everything we do. But I'd like to have our judgment checked. The ratio of personnel to patients and inmates, and other operating and financial details go out in a word and see the program for yourself. It will save us hours of explanation. I strongly urge you to visit the institutions."

Reasons Chosen

Sen. Robert P. Knowles of New Richmond, chairman of the operations study group, remarked that the welfare department had been chosen for a special study because, although it is one of the largest, most costly and most important service arms of the state government, it is also one about which legislators as a whole know less than about others, and are aware of their lack of knowledge.

The department now runs 16 institutions of various kinds, 14 farms largely manned by patients and inmates, three prisons, as well as services that have personnel widely distributed through the state.

It has several new institutions in various stages of planning and construction, and is made in the Dallas area was as for many others for which legislative approval has not yet been granted.

New Officers Appointed by Cub Pack 42

Gordon Kannenberg has been named committee chairman of Cub Scout Pack 42, Stephen Foster school, Mrs. James Seelkins, publicity chairman, said today.

New cubmaster is Roy Haase. Lido Knaack is assistant cubmaster.

Other committee members are Don Johnson, Robert Holcomb, Mrs. Gertrude Herzfeldt and James Seelkins.

Edward Krueger has been elected institutional representative.

Pack 42 cubs receiving honors were Gary Kannenberg, Gary Kuehl and James Knaack, wolf badge. Dennis Vice and William Rousseau, gold and silver arrows with wolf badge. Robert Haase, silver arrow with wolf badge, Kris Johnson, Richard Herzfeldt, William Rousseau, James Winkler and James Krueger, 1 year service stars and Dennis Vice, 3 year service star.

Rep. Tewes Displeased With Federal Cookbook

Washington — Rep. Donald Tewes (R-Waukesha) said Wednesday he was displeased with a cookbook used in federal jails.

"It implies," he said, "the endorsement of a substitute spread instead of butter" because it contains 94 recipes in which a vegetable oil substitute is recommended.

In a letter to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, Tewes said: "The implied endorsement was unfortunate and unfair." The book was published by the bureau of prisons of the justice department.

German Brains Sent to America After Much Red Tape Unravelled

BY FLETCHER KNEBEL

Washington—American intelligence officers found hundreds of German scientists in the debris of Hitler's third reich in the summer of 1945 and sent them streaming to interrogation centers.

But back in Washington red tape, inter-agency bickering and even downright opposition almost killed the project. It would have set American science back untold years.

Col. Holger N. Toftoy, now commanding general of Redstone arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., was in Germany in that summer of 1945 as a leading officer of Operation Paper Clip, charged with rounding up German missile, rocket and jet plane experts.

In May 1945 he sent a cable to Washington, urging that the 300 top missile men from the V-2 testing station at Peenemunde be flown to the United States at once to begin preparations for a possible rocket assault on the Japanese. He got no answer.

At last, distraught at the silence, he flew to Washington and pleaded the case personally at the Pentagon. He got permission to bring only 100 of the scientists. Back he flew to Germany. But he cheated on his orders and actually sent 127 of the scientists to the states.

Secret messages to Washington revealed the frustration of field officers who knew they had rounded up history's richest scientific prize of war—and nobody at home seemed to want it.

Army air force intelligence memo, May 1945: "Dr. Theodore von Karman estimates that here at this one place there is information immediately available that would take us at least two years of research in the United States to obtain."

Air force Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Kner reported, May 1945: "Occupation of German scientific and industrial establishments has revealed we have been alarmingly backward in many fields of research. If we do not take the opportunity to seize the apparatus and brains that developed it and put the combination back to work promptly, we will remain several years behind."

400 Top People

Army engineers' cabled to Pentagon, May 1945: "Have in custody over 400 top research development personnel of Peenemunde. Developed V-2. Believe this development would be important for Pacific war. They are anxious to carry on this research in whatever country will give the opportunity, preferably the United States, second England, third France."

The first nine Germans, including Dr. Werner von Braun, the ace of the V-2 rocket, arrived in Boston, Mass., in September 1945. He went immediately to White Sands proving grounds, New Mexico, with Maj. James P. Hamill, now a ballistic missile expert at the army's Aberdeen proving grounds, Maryland. Hamill and Von Braun prepared to test reassembled V-2 rockets on the New Mexico wastes.

The rest of the group spent six months at Aberdeen, translating 3,600 documents and blue-prints that provided Germany's massive key to the new age of space conquest.

The German scientists hired at $6 a day, came without their families. Washington policy wrangles over pay and what to do about dependents went on month after month.

Some Complaints

As late as June 1946, the state department's security division was complaining, according to official records, because the quarters of German scientists at Wright-Patterson field, Dayton, Ohio, were not "bugged" so their private conversations could be monitored.

A small state department group even feared growth of a Nazi underground, tried to plant a magazine story that the Germans already here were adherents of the Nazi super-race philosophy and that some had participated in crimes against the Jews. A writer who checked out these allegations found every one of them to be false.

It was true that many of the German scientists had belonged to the Nazi party, but our intelligence officers found most had joined solely in the hope of gaining enough influence to get funds for their precious rocket and missile research.

The truth was that most of the scientists, as reported by Dr. Fritz Zwicky of California

Dr. Fritz Zwicky

Institute of Technology, who interviewed scores of them, were politically naive and without interest in ideological debates.

Much Ambition

Von Braun was aflame with ambition to reach outer space and hit the moon and he and

Recalled Alderman Wins Re-election After Budget Fight

Racine—Incumbent Ald. David W. Retzinger Tuesday won a recall election forced last year after he led an unsuccessful drive to trim the school board budget by $100,000. It was the first recall balloting here in 34 years.

In the voting in the 15th ward Retzinger piled up 1,858 votes to defeat Casimir Ziolkowski who got 517. Ziolkowski is a former alderman and former member of the Racine county board.

The recall petitions were circulated last December and the common council scheduled the election after County Judge Francis Wendt found they included 477 valid signatures—more than the required number.

the other space aspirants believed the free science of America to be the best climate in which to realize that ambition.

At last a state-war-navy coordinating committee ironed out a long-range plan. It was taken to the White House by Secy. of State James F. Byrnes. President Truman approved it Sept. 3, 1946.

It increased the total number of German scientists to be admitted to 1,000, raised the maximum pay to a respectable $10,000 a year and provided that families should be brought over as soon as possible. The families had been housed in the town of Landshtut, northeast of Munich. Soon they began coming over by the dozens. (Copyright 1956)

Gland Prone to Infection, Which Can Have Many Causes

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

The following letter from a relatively young man will apply to older men who encounter his trouble.

Dr. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am under going treatment for an infected prostate gland. I had practically the same trouble three years ago. I am 39.

My doctor seems vague in answering questions and I would like to know: Am I going to have such an infection every few years, and would surgery end the trouble? How does the infection originate?—M.N.T.

The prostate is a doughnut-shaped gland, and it is unique in that it is part muscle, part gland. The muscle helps control the flow of urine; the glandular part provides the fluid portion of the male sperm.

Being a glandular structure, it is prone to infection, and the manifestations can include fever, pain, discharge and possibly bloody urine. Most infections are relatively mild. (After all, a common cold is an infection; a sore finger is a mild infection, etc.) To get back to prostates, flareups of a mild infection are associated with alcoholic excess, becoming overtired and other illness. Treatment depends on the intensity of infection. Antibiotics may be required. Periodic massage of the gland frequently helps, as does heat (from hot baths, or from diathermy). Surgery, as a matter of fact, is rather seldom resorted to unless an abscess forms. Surgery, if needed, should be performed, but unless really needed, it is like cutting off a sore finger. Do it directly if needed—if not, don't do it at all. That's my fixed rule.

Origin of Infections

How do infections originate? Lots of ways. Prostate infection has been known to follow extraction of an infected tooth. The other major prostate problem is simple enlargement in later years.

Main symptoms are difficulty in urination; incomplete urination; urination at night. Sufficient enlargement of this odd gland can shut off urination entirely, which of course is an emergency situation and must be treated without delay.

Cancer is the remaining prostate problem worthy of mention. Symptoms, at first, are minor, so men should be happy to have examination as part of a routine checkup. Any lump detected in such examination should raise suspicion, and the proof, then, is a biopsy, or microscopic examination of a very tiny bit of tissue removed from the gland. That will tell the story. (Copyright, 1956)

Petition to Delay Water System Denied

Fond du Lac Needs Improvements Now, Commission Rules

Madison—The Wisconsin public service commission refused Tuesday to hold up work on a new water system for Fond du Lac. It rejected a petition for a new hearing, the PSC declared the improvements were needed now.

On Dec. 31 the commission authorized the city to proceed with the $3,780,000 project that will draw water from Lake Winnebago. Three weeks later the Citizens for Municipal Government asked a rehearing.

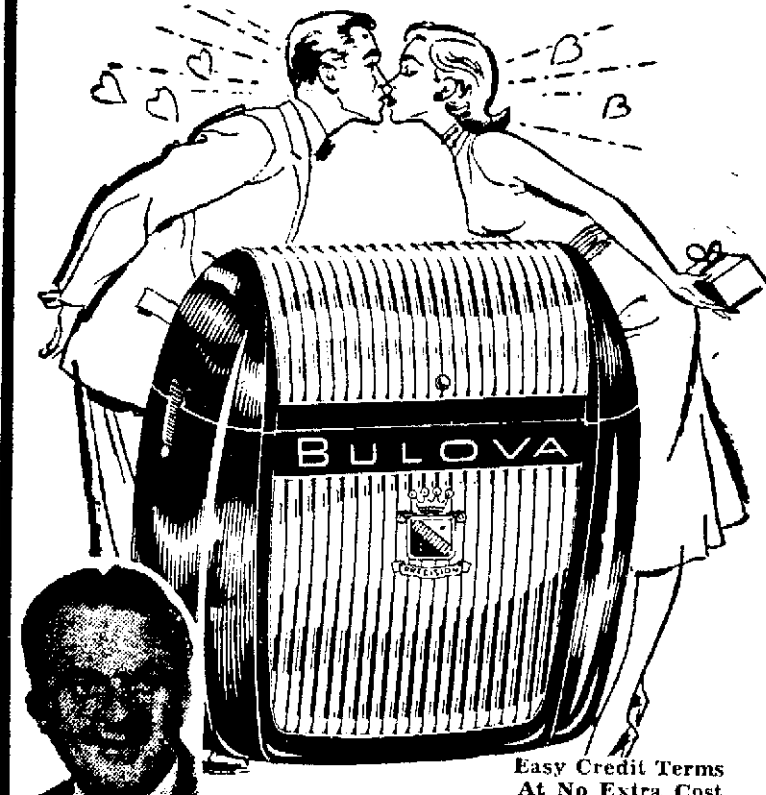

The organization argued that the plan was not submitted to a referendum or to the municipal planning commission for consideration. It also noted that the community soon will shift from the commission form of government to the manager-council plan.

The commission said: "Much stress is laid upon the point that the system of government will soon change and the new officials should be permitted to make the decision as to a new water supply."

"This position is untenable as it is apparent that a new water supply is needed now."

Time to Keep Our Heads

Everyone knows that economic activity in the United States dropped a little during the fourth quarter of 1957, and has not yet recovered. The usual signs of a "recession" are present — unemployment is inching upward, overtime and other premium work is being cut back, total national production is off.

Some industries and communities have been hit hard, while others have noticed the slump hardly at all or are even going ahead as if there weren't any. As usual, this part of Wisconsin has been affected far less than most of the rest of the country. We have always had a stable economy here — we go up more slowly during the booms, hold our own better during recessions — which is one of the many things that makes this area an attractive place in which to live and do business.

This is the third such period to occur in the last 10 years. Both the others — in 1949 and 1953 — lasted only a short while and were followed by periods of even greater prosperity than before. While no one can predict the future, evidence certainly exists to support the opinion of President Eisenhower's economic advisers that this recession also will be of short duration.

We suspect that nationally the slump is a little worse than most people are admitting, yet paradoxically the greatest danger is that people will exaggerate it. This is because of the inability of the average person to cast his mind back only a few years and realize to what heights our economy has climbed, and therefore how far it has to fall before we will be in any really serious trouble.

The past 12 years have seen the most remarkable sustained boom in our history or, for that matter, in the history of any nation. Very humanly, many of us have become accustomed to doing better each succeeding year, and have gotten to the point where even a slight drop-off scares the wits out of us. (Nowadays when a businessman says he is "in the red" he simply means his sales or profits are lower than a year ago; most of us have forgotten what it is like to really be "in the red" in the sense of actually losing money.)

Thus the danger exists that people will become panicky, and do foolish things. This applies to businessmen — including the executives of our largest corporations — as well as to ordinary home-owners and bread-winners, for businessmen are very human people. And of course, should a lot of people become panicky at the same time their actions might bring about the very thing they fear most.

The sensible man, at a time like this, refuses to let himself be swayed by popular emotion, and pushed to taking extreme action of one kind or another.

He may look over his own business or personal budget a little more carefully; he may be a little more cautious in the commitments he makes, and to whom or on what basis he lends money or gives credit. If, however, he has been planning an investment that makes sense for his long-term business or personal interest, and the fact that the economy has taken a slight dip does not change those circumstances (as will be the case in most instances), he will go ahead and make the investment and not worry about it.

For the average family the basis on which spending decisions should be made is no different today than it was a year ago or five years ago, if there is money in the bank, or the credit needed can be handled without difficulty, the family would be foolish to postpone enjoyment of the things it wants simply because it has become frightened by some headlines in the newspapers.

Most economists who have studied the business cycle have come to the conclusion that the best way to beat it is to pay as little attention to it as possible. In other words, business and personal decisions should be made on the basis of a sound analysis of the factors that affect that particular business or person; the person who tries to out-guess the business cycle usually is wrong about the same number of times he is right.

In other words, this is a time in which people should keep their heads. The businessman who carefully analyzes present circumstances may find that they present opportunity for progress as much as they offer reasons for retrenchment. The family that refuses to be swayed by bridge-table conversation may find opportunities to get more for its money. This is especially true in an area like ours where changes in the nation's economic activity are felt less sharply than elsewhere.

areas under cultivation — In other words, all of the important characteristics of life on the mainland. Alaska on the other hand is a land of relatively small towns, only a few industries, some fairly important mineral resources and a lot of icy wasteland.

Opposition to statehood for Hawaii has come principally from two sources; from Democrats in general because Hawaiians tend to vote Republican, and from southern Democrats in particular because Hawaii offers one of the world's most marvelous demonstrations of how people of various races can live together in equality and harmony. Until this year at least Republicans have refused to vote for Alaska as long as the Democrats refuse to vote for Hawaii. But apparently something has happened to this quid pro quo arrangement.

Letting relatively undeveloped Alaska into the Union while barring highly developed Hawaii would amount to an announcement to the world that America is still a land of racial prejudice and political pettifogging. If the administration lets the Democrats put this one over, it ought to have its head examined.

Editorial on Scientists Called 'Unjust'

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In an attempt to come to an understanding of the issue that has been illuminated in a letter by Edward Thode, printed in the Feb. 8 issue of your paper, concerning humanitarianism and the position of men of science, a discussion group met, informally, to express their attitude on the matter. The group consisted of people with scientific training. We felt that a refutation of Mr. Thode's letter had been submitted which was particularly unjust. The author of the refutation has picked out a few not-so-key words, all particular, and used these to generalize upon and to inject a totally different line of thought.

If one reads the content of Mr. Thode's letter as well as the introduction, he will discover that Mr. Thode favors an exchange of ideas between members of humanity. Humanity refers to all people in all lands, not to the collection of Americans, Chinese, Africans and all the rest of the peoples grouped under political or geographical boundaries. The majority of people, world over, do not control their own fate, but are subjected to the control of an intelligent, scheming minority. Is it not true that communism overtakes a country through the efforts of a well-organized few? Is this sufficient reason to deny these people agricultural improvements and relief from over-population? Does freedom thrive on famine? One must give the editor credit for pointing out that scientists need consciences and political awareness. However, it appears

These Days
Russia Has Conquered 17 Nations While Talking Peace, Co-Existence

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

Nikita Khrushchev, in his address before the supreme soviet in December, 1957, said:

Sokolsky

"The victory of a social order will be solved not by rockets, nor by atomic or hydrogen bombs, but by the social order which insures more material and spiritual good for humanity. We consider that the socialist order is the highest form of organization of the society. Let any system of the social order show its advantages not only in military, but in peaceful fields in the development of the productive forces of society, science, technology, culture — in the creation of better living conditions."

His assumption apparently is that Soviet Russia has some kind of an advantage over the western world in human progress. This is yet to be established by factual data. Despite remarkable progress in some fields, the United States is far ahead of Soviet Russia in productive output; west Germany has made as great progress as Soviet Russia in spite of almost insurmountable handicaps. Surely no comparison is possible of normal living conditions, even for the agricultural population, between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Deliberate Lie

When, however, Khrushchev states the following, he not only does not tell the truth, but he knows that he does not tell the truth. He deliberately and cold-bloodedly lies. This what Khrushchev said in that speech:

"The Soviet Union and other Socialist countries do not threaten anyone with war. They have no intention of forcing their own ideology or methods on anyone. The only thing they propose is peace and friendship between peoples. We want to strive for mutual understanding, we want to establish trust between states, put an end to the fanning of war passions and introduce peace, to give the people the opportunity to work in peace. This is obvious. However, we are told that this is propaganda! Yes, it is propaganda but not for war but for peace, because in the Soviet Union, as distinct from the United States, for instance, propaganda for war is considered a grave crime and is punished by law."

For 40 years, since 1917, Soviet Russia has conducted a world-wide propaganda to bring other nations within the Soviet Universal State. To accomplish this end, Soviet Russia has conquered some 17 countries, it has made war on Finland and China; it has broken treaties and agreements; it has subsidized civil wars and rebellions; it has frightened politicians by the activities of Kremlin-controlled political parties within their national boundaries; it has infiltrated into so-called friendly governments, even allies in time of war, by the employment of native sons and daughters against their fatherland.

Conspiracy, Betrayal

The history of the communist party from 1903 to 1958 is one of continuous conspiracy and outrageous betrayal of friend and ally. One need only read this passage in Chiang Kai-Shek's book, "Soviet Russia in China," to realize what a horribly treacherous nation this is. Chiang says:

"... The so-called 'cooperation for joint resistance against Japan' was nothing but a slogan for this strategic defense. On the other hand, the 'people's front' they then organized was a kind of isolationist device used to support their neutralist tactics through the 'anti-Japanese National Salvation association' in an attack on the government. While asking for cooperation to resist Japan, the Chinese communists insulted and abused the government by branding it as 'fascist' and 'not anti-Japanese.' This campaign caused our country and our government a considerable loss in prestige but opened up for the communists vast possibilities for political expansion. So, in this particular instance, the Chinese communists' 'peaceful coexistence' was a strategic defense and a tactical offense..."

I have watched this party closely for more than 40 years, as closely as one can without becoming a member of it, and must denounce it as a plague upon the human race. Chiang was once friendly with the communists. It took him years to learn this:

"... They sought to shatter our strength by using 'peaceful coexistence' as a strategic weapon to tie the hands of the government troops and at the same time to facilitate their own attacks. In point of tactics, however, they remained on the defensive and shaped their demands accordingly. They only talked of 'peace.' They said they wanted 'democracy.' They claimed that all they asked was that political parties should leave the armed forces and schools... Therefore, the communists' peace talks during this particular phase were a strategic offense and tactical defense."

Under the Capital Dome
Too Many Agencies in Mental Health Program

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — A field of state government service which to the lay observer cries out for reform is that which deals with the various forms of mental illness, and especially with respect to children.

A legislative - citizens interim committee now is looking into all services affecting children and youth, in the mental hygiene field, and if its members were paying attention at the first exploratory sessions they must now be nursing their own private doubts about the haphazard fashion in which existing public services have been permitted to develop.

The staff report presented to the committee matter-of-factly related there now are four agencies with programs in the area of mental health and the problems of children and youth.

Then it added, with what was undoubtedly unintended irony:

"Within a given department there may be several divisions who carry on programs that affect the mentally ill, the mentally retarded, the physically handicapped or the juvenile delinquent. New reports and research studies are constantly flowing from these. Consequently this staff report may have inadvertently neglected some..."

MANY HANDS

From the point of view of the earnest and hard-working officials involved, there is nothing extraordinary in such an uncoordinated picture of state services. Each of these programs grew up to meet a specific problem under specific legislation.

Nobody has ever seriously challenged the patternless system. Governmental agencies don't budge easily. The tendency will be for even more proliferation, if they're left to their own devices. Even now the state department of vocational education is trying to get into the act with an ambitious proposal for an expensive appropriation that would permit it to lend a hand to the mentally disabled also — and without a reference to the plethora of bureaus already in the field.

The two major departments now functioning in this area are the departments of public instruction and public welfare, and the state department of health.

There is some dispute between their respective points of view on how the state's responsibility to a mentally disturbed or otherwise handicapped child should be met. Educators as a group tend to resent what they see as the grasping for place and function of the social welfare point of view, for example. Sometimes this competition explodes in public places in embarrassing ways, as before legislative committees.

CONSOLIDATION

The layman might wonder why the precise division of administrative functions in the first place.

With a keen awareness that there is no one quite as jealous of prerogatives and place as the public official, he may wonder why there could not be one general department of public welfare embracing all of these service responsibilities — with operating divisions within it.

Such a reform, however, does not generate strength out of its own merits. It must be pushed. It must have firm sponsorship. The present study committee may provide it. There is some reason for hope. But there is also reason for fear that it may be detoured from a realistic and instinctive disarray it has already found, by the sheer weight of the bureaucratic wilderness with which it is surrounded.

The observer may be permitted to wonder about the discomfiture of a person who may have a mental disturbance, and who looks around a governmental directory to find an agency that can attend to his problem. Judging from the voluminous nature of the staff report just filed, he would probably be a chronic case before he found the department or service he wanted.

Veterans' Officer Explains Pensions

Veterans who qualify for service-connected and non-service-connected disability pensions cannot receive both payments at the same time, Francis Heesacker, Outagamie county veterans' service officer, said today.

He said veterans may select whichever pension pays the most. They may revoke the selection if their physical condition changes to such a degree that the other payment would be higher.

Non-service disability pensions are subject to income limitations while service-connected disability payments are not, Heesacker stated.

'Rochester' Collapses During TV Rehearsal

Hollywood — Eddie Anderson, better known to Jack Benny fans as Rochester, collapsed during a television rehearsal Wednesday night.

A doctor said Anderson had suffered a stomach upset.

"He's talking and he says he's feeling fine," the doctor reported after examining the 52-year-old actor.

14 Boy Scouts Receive Badges

Fourteen Boy Scouts of Troop 10, Trinity Lutheran church, have received tenderfoot badges. Alvin Krabbe, troop committee chairman, said today.

Now tenderfoot scouts are Thomas Callaway, Martin Myse, Eric Roehl, D. G. Schumaker, Paul Schumaker, Robert Vissers, Gary Wenzlaff, Terry Wiese, Steven Barney, Tim Carlson, Neil Weber, Paul Kindem, Paul Schuster and David Carney.

Ike Puts 'Bet' On Future U. S. Business Trend

Government Will Use Power to Promote Economic Recovery

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — President Eisenhower has just placed an important "bet" on the future trend of American business. He bets that the bottom of the present "recession" will have been reached next month and that the "pick-up" will then begin. He doesn't say when the "recovery" process will be completed but predicts that it will be well under way "later this year."

Eisenhower, in effect, says that the government will use its economic and financial power to promote recovery but only "in every sound way."

The mere fact that such a statement was issued shows an awareness of the psychological impact that could result from Tuesday's announcement that 4.5 million persons are unemployed.

Eisenhower accompanies his comment with a fact sheet outlining the measures being taken by the government to encourage construction, to speed up the fulfillment of defense contracts already authorized and to operate more flexibly the credit machinery of the nation, especially in the mortgage field.

Real Problem

The real problem is to determine exactly how and when the various remedial measures will take hold in our complex economy. Perhaps the most important factor of all is to be found on the psychological side. The president is positive that the recovery will be under way soon and he is emphatic that "we are not facing a prolonged downswing in activity." This in itself is a stimulus.

The president doubtless has in mind the experience of the country in previous recessions and that it takes a year or more for them to run their course. To most people the present "recession" began this month, when they first heard of large unemployment. Actually, the "readjustment" began in the spring of 1937 but was not recognized as having considerable momentum until the last quarter of 1937.

This correspondent on Oct. 23, 1937, wrote of the "economic recession" then going on and said "there is no denying that a major change in the economy is in process of evolution this year."

The question all along has been how far the downward

Appleton Post-Crescent 10 Thursday, Feb. 13, 1958

swing would go, and on Jan. 22, 1938, this correspondent said:

Bad News

"All of the bad news about the impact of the recession has probably not materialized as yet. Unemployment is around 4 million and there are many predictions that it will reach beyond 5 million and even to 6 million before the first quarter of 1938 is over."

Now the president says that "we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front." This is reassuring. It means that, while even a further rise in unemployment could occur, this would be of short duration as spring planting pulls more workers to the farms.

The president is in a better position than any other man in America to forecast employment trends, but he could be wrong about the time of the turning point in the "recession." The reasons could have nothing to do with the facts he has presented.

Thus, when President Hoover said that recovery was "just around the corner," he was basing his judgment on economic factors. Indeed, the records of the League of Nations bureau at the time reveal the history of that period to have been one of world-wide recovery during the summer of 1932 except for America. The psychological impression caused by the large unemployment figures had, however, produced in this country a chain reaction of excessive curtailment and caution by businessmen, and fear begot more fear.

Climax Comes
The climax came in the "bank holiday" of 1933, and an era of disintegration in business followed which was not over till 1940, when war orders began to bring full employment. There were 12.8 million unemployed in 1933, and there were still 9.5 million unemployed in 1939. Thus the "Roosevelt depression" was much longer and much more severe in unemployment than the "Hoover depression."

The reason for this was the utter failure of the New Deal policy of "leaf raking," which was based on erroneous concepts about benefits from increases in "purchasing power" through inequitable taxes and relief projects. It was wrongly believed this would bring full employment.

America could experience the same disaster again if the Democrats in congress force a return to their earlier doctrines and neglect the stimulus that can come from sound measures to revive the heavy-goods industries. It is this primarily which can bring substantial decreases in unemployment.

If, however, politics messes up the picture again, as it did in the 1930's, the latest predictions of recovery could be wrong. If politics is adjourned, a major change in the economy toward recovery this year and realize full employment again in 1959.

Campaign Against Fish Control Head Fizzling

Demand Aimed at Ousting Superintendent, But His Superiors Show No Sign of Agreeing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—A public campaign of criticism of the state fish management division, with the evident purpose of forcing out Supt. E. W. Schneberger, is making no progress.

There is no sign that either Director Lester Voigt of the state conservation department or the members of the state conservation commission have been impressed by complaints about Schneberger's policies, or intend to provide the personnel shake-up demanded.

Voigt told a reporter here that the commission publicly announced more than a month ago that it would hold a public meeting to discuss all phases of state fisheries management. It also invited suggestions for the meeting agenda, but has received none, he reported.

Letter to Thomson

Lately the Northeastern Wisconsin Conservation council wrote to Gov. Vernon W. Thomson, claiming that Schneberger has been guilty of "insubordination" and asking for an investigation.

Thomson has not commented publicly on the complaint, but it is known that he has reviewed it with Voigt.

The letter to Thomson also complained that the northeastern section of the state is not treated fairly in trout distribution for stocking. But Voigt has noted that the region gets one third of the states total, all though there are five distribution districts and some of them get as little as 15 per cent.

Through Channels

Voigt said here that he and the commissioners under whom the works are always interested in critical suggestions about "But such criticisms and suggestions should come through the convenient channels we have provided, including the public hearings held frequently by the commission and the meetings of the Conservation Congress," he commented.

It's a cycle. And a wonderful one at that! You go to school, graduate. Fall in love, get married. Start a family, buy a home. Then your children grow up — and the cycle begins all over again.

But it takes money. Money saved. Money at work. Money to "grow on."

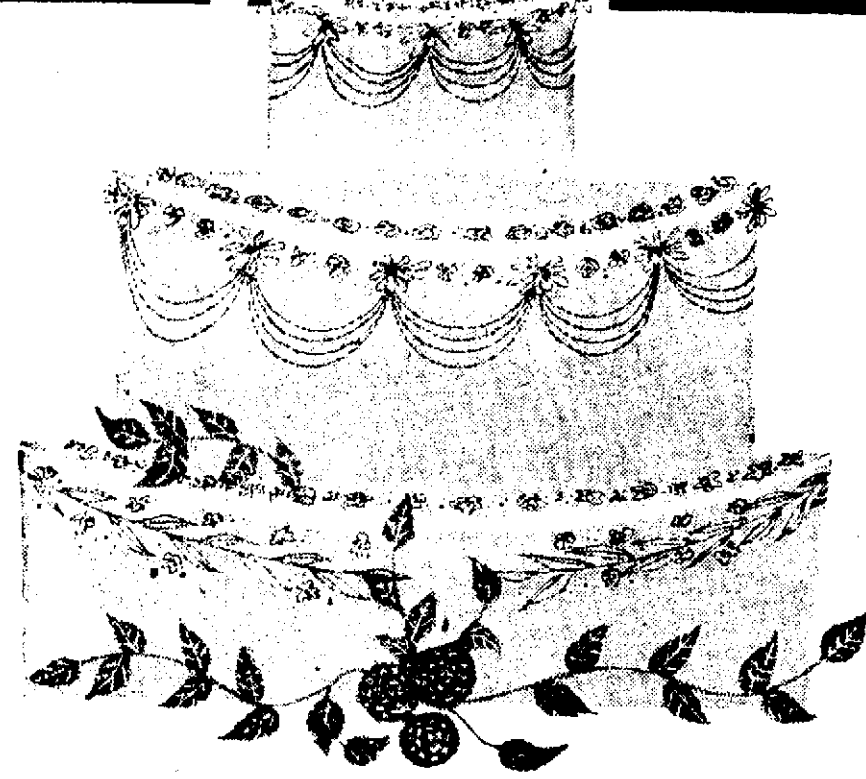

A planned, thriving Bank savings account can help make this "life cycle" complete for you and your family . . . build a richer, fuller life while you're living it. And for the years ahead, too, when you can bolster the retirement years with the money you've put away in a Bank savings account.

Do it today. Start a Bank savings account . . . for all the future holds.

REMEMBER . . . ONLY AT A BANK CAN YOU DEPOSIT YOUR SAVINGS

Make no mistake about it — where you save does make a real difference! It's the difference between depositing your money, or purchasing shares. Your deposit in a bank is a cash fund. It's the difference between earning a pre-established rate of interest, or a dividend based on uncertain earnings. Banks guarantee interest when the deposit is made. It's the difference between the legal right to receive cash, or possible repayment in stock. Bank deposits are guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. up to $10,000.00. Banks insure the cash return of your deposit. No other savings institution can guarantee these assurances or provide these "true" safeguards for your money.

Pack Pocketbook With Bills for Food Shopping

Most Meat, Produce Prices Continue High, Consumer Still Paying for Florida Frost

There'll be little change in Appleton food prices this week-end and, again, it is recommended shoppers pack pocketbooks with bills. Food, both meat and produce continues high and one Appleton meat man offers the gloomy prediction that meat prices might not drop for a long time.

Fruits and vegetables still are up this week. The consumer is paying for new crop losses in the south and this will continue into the spring since most of the vegetable crops were damaged.

Best vegetable buys are the sturdier items—Wisconsin potatoes at 10 pounds for 49 cents, Idaho potatoes at 10 pounds for 69 cents, broccoli at 29 cents a bunch, turnips at 19 cents a pound, Texas yellow onions at 6 cents a pound, and brussels sprouts at 29 cents a box.

Moderate to high priced are lettuce from 15 to 19 cents a head, green cabbage at 15 cents a pound, carrots at 25 cents a bunch, celery from 29 to 33 cents a bunch, cucumbers at 19 cents each, radishes at 15 cents a bunch, green peppers at 23 cents each, spinach at 29 cents a pound, red cabbage at 15 cents a pound and cauliflower at 39 cents a head.

Rhubarb and asparagus are two variety items available now. Rhubarb at 29 cents a pound is reasonable but asparagus at 59 cents a pound is expensive.

Apples, grapes, pineapple and grapefruit are the best buys. Because the citrus situation is improving grapefruit is down to a moderate 10 for 49 cents but oranges remain high. The latter range from about 59 cents a dozen upward, depending on variety and size.

Apples are tagged at 18 cents a pound for Winesaps and Rome Beauties and 20 cents a pound for Red Delicious. Grapes are of excellent quality at 15 cents a pound as are pineapples at 39 cents each. D'Anjou pears at 20 cents a pound are considered moderate and quality is tops this time of year.

Chickens, hams and chuck continue as best buys at meat counters—and the shopper will find few others. Chicken prices are stewers at 39 cents, roasters at 49 cents and fryers from 39 to 47 cents a pound. Hams are priced at about 39 cents for picnics and from 55 cents a pound upward for roasts while chuck ranges from about 45 cents a pound upward.

Still considered high are sirloin steak from 89 to $1.09, round steak from 69 to 79 cents, rib roast from 79 to 89 cents, pork chops from 79 to 89 cents, pork steak from 55 to 59 cents, spare ribs from 53 to 59 cents and pork roast from 59 cents upward.

Probably the best protein buy is eggs with a dozen grade A large priced from 49 to 51 cents. Grade A mediums are 30 cents a dozen, but large sizes are considered a better buy at the price.

Standard Pie Crust (Makes two 9-inch pie shells or one 2-crust pie)

2 cups sifted enriched flour 1 teaspoon salt 2-3 cup lard

5 to 6 tablespoons ice water Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Add lard and cut into the flour until mixture resembles cornmeal. Add water, sprinkling it over one portion of the dough at a time and blending in gently with a fork.

Shape into a ball, divide into two parts. For a pastry shell roll one part of the dough on a floured pastry cloth to 1/4-inch thickness.

Gently place in pie pan, prick closely with tines of fork to prevent puffing during baking. Bake at 425 degrees 15 to 18 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

For 2-crust pie, prepare dough as for pastry shell and place in pan. Do not prick. Add filling. Roll remainder of dough to 1/4-inch thickness and gash to allow escape of steam.

Place on filling, sealing edges by pressing with tines of a fork trim. Bake according to directions for filling.

BPW Plan Event To Raise Funds For Hospital

Bowling Jamboree
Proceeds to Help
Buy Doctors' Board

Kaukauna—Plans for a bowling jamboree to be held Feb. 22 and 24 at S and B alleys were made at a meeting of the Kaukauna Business and Professional Women's club.

Money raised from the jamboree will be used to help the club pay for a doctors' board which will be donated to the Kaukauna Community hospital. Bowling will start at 1:30 in the afternoon and there will be two shifts for bowling.

The club has already donated over $1,700 toward the purchase of items for the hospital including a baby isolette and furnishings for the nurses' lounge. Additional funds needed for the doctors' board will be raised through gift pledges or from donations from other organizations.

Committees Named
Mrs. Louise McGee appointed Mrs. Berenice Elliott, Mrs. Genevieve Anderson and Mrs. Mary Jane Ranquette to the nominating committee and Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, Miss Ann Wolf and Miss Bea Nettekoven to the auditing committee.

Plans were made for a summer trip to a Braves baseball game with the club to charter a bus for members and guests. Colored slides taken on a tour of Europe were shown by James Lang. Mrs. Dorothy Black served as program chairman.

A second contest will be held in March, again the winner will have his name engraved on the trophy and the trophy displayed. This will continue on a monthly basis in an effort to keep the teen-agers conscious of good driving habits.

The trophy will be awarded at an all-school assembly for the first month to enable students to see the award. Thereafter the winners will be announced by the addition of their name to the displayed emblem each month.

Kimberly — The Kimberly Recreation association archery senior team dropped a close match to North Fond du Lac while the junior squad remained undefeated in latest Wisconsin Archers mail matches.

The seniors lost by a 2,837 to 2,809 score while the junior team took an easy 2,334 to 1,749 victory. The senior team has failed to connect for a victory so far this season although there has been several close matches.

Individual scores for the seniors included Elmer Grimm, 714; Della Grimm, 708; Rod Harrmann, 698; and Louise Van Handel, 689. For the North Fond du Lac team Clarence Rauff was high with a 736 score followed by Ron Andrews with 712, Harold Hanson with 694 and Paul Schwobert had a 690.

Junior scores for the KRA included Tony Eckes, Jr., 646; John Wildenberg, 584; Jim Wildenberg, 554; and Jerry Binsfeld, 550. For Fondy the scores were Donna Rimel, 477; Jack Hupler, 459; Roger Rimel, 409; and John Andrews, 404.

This week the teams shoot against the Fond du Lac team.

'Mystic Midnight' To Be Theme for KHS Junior Prom
Kaukauna — "Mystic Midnight" has been selected as the theme for the Kaukauna High school junior prom to be held April 25.

Members of the theme committee were Darlene Diedrich, Mary Sue Coleman, Mary Goldert Weyenberg, began to stop traffic for an approaching switch engine. The front end of the Bueth car was on the tracks and when the youth attempted to put the car in reverse, the motor stalled and the engine struck the car. About $200 damage resulted to the vehicle, according to police.

Young Ladies Sodality To Receive Communion
Hollandtown — The Young Ladies sodality will receive communion at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning at St. Francis Catholic church.

At St. Francis school the seventh and eighth grade pupils be discussed at a meeting at 7:30 tonight at Holy Name school.

Nominations will be made assisted by Nancy Scheubel, for the department merit or Jo Ann Carter, Daniel Holz commanders award to be given at the state convention at Brick, James Geenen and Daniel Van Abel.

Legion Council Favors Berken for State Post

Ninth District Head Candidate for Vice Commander at LaCrosse Convention

Little Chute—The Outagamie County Legion council Wednesday night voted support of Lloyd Berken, Ninth district commander, in his campaign for a department vice commander post. The department officers will be elected at the state Legion convention in LaCrosse this summer.

Gordon R. McIntyre, managing editor of the Post-Crescent, was guest speaker for the dinner-meeting. He spoke on publicity ideas for posts and organizations. He pointed out that a publicity chairman should "have a keen interest and enthusiasm" in his position and events going on in the organization.

McIntyre also told of the importance of the posts going ahead with the sponsorship of events and entering into worthwhile projects.

KHS Cagers to Battle Indians Friday Night
Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school cagers will face one of their roughest assignments of the season at 8 o'clock Friday night when they invade the Shawano gym to do battle with the state champion Indians.

The upset win by Menasha over the Indians last week only adds to the Ghost's headaches as Shawano also has the added advantages of the home floor and more experienced personnel. The Indians defeated Kaukauna 66 to 49 in the first meeting in Kaukauna and had the game under control from the start.

Kaukauna has shown considerable improvement since the first meeting and since the Ghosts defeated Menasha, they cannot be taken lightly by the Indians.

Mrs. Paul Vanden Heuvel and Mrs. Ronald Geiger will have charge of the social after the meeting.

Beauty Salon Owners Observe Special Week

Kaukauna — Mrs. Donald Weigman, Kaukauna, state chairman of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association, announced Wednesday she had received a proclamation from Gov. Vernon Thompson proclaiming this Beauty Salon week.

In honor of the occasion, beauty operators visited the Riverview sanitarium where five patients were given permanent and others had their hair cut and set. Members from Little Chute and Kaukauna also donated a hair dryer to the Rose Rest home in Kaukauna.

The group is also cooperating with the state plan of having beauty shops set up in various mental institutions throughout the state since it has been proven that personal appearance does much to help in the rehabilitation of the mentally ill.

Youth Escapes Injury When Train Hits Car
Kaukauna — A Milwaukee youth escaped injury about 8:45 Tuesday night when the car he was driving was struck by a Chicago and North Western switch engine, according to Kaukauna police.

Roger Bueth, 18, was about to cross the tracks on Main avenue when the signalman, Robert Weyenberg, began to stop traffic for an approaching switch engine. The front end of the Bueth car was on the tracks and when the youth attempted to put the car in reverse, the motor stalled and the engine struck the car. About $200 damage resulted to the vehicle, according to police.

Tart Sauce Heightens Flavor Of These Half-Shell Oysters

BY FRANK KOHLER

For oysters on the half shell, nothing better, this is our idea of a suitable sauce.

Our old friend Armand Turk showed us this one at the Ritz-Carlton in Philadelphia — way back when that was one of the world's great hotels.

Use white vinegar for his, or white wine vinegar with arragon if you prefer. To each half cup of vinegar, stir in a drop or two of Tabasco, one teaspoon lemon juice, one tablespoon finely minced onion, one tablespoon cracked black pepper, and a dash of salt. Let his marinate for some time.

When you serve this with oysters on the half shell, ladle one into each cocktail sauce up, being sure that all ingredients are included. Just dip the oysters as you would with any cocktail sauce.

Olive-Fruit Lamb Shanks

For six, and a nice way to prepare one of our favorite meat dishes. You can have the shanks cut up, in which case buy four pounds. We prefer selecting shanks of uniform size, and keeping them whole, one to a customer.

Flour seasoned with salt and pepper
1 cup melted fat.
1 cup water
1 cup cooked prunes.
1 cup cooked apricots
1 cup sliced stuffed green olives.
1 cup water.
1 cup sugar.
3 tablespoons vinegar.
1 teaspoon cloves
Coat shanks with seasoned

LIMITED OFFER!

Serve Cooked Potatoes As Soon as Possible

Potatoes should be served as quickly as possible after cooking.

Not only do they taste better, but loss of vitamin C is avoided. This vitamin is rapidly destroyed when potatoes are kept hot for later use.

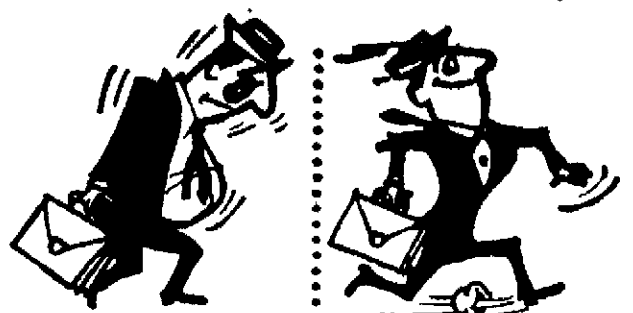

Remove pits from prunes, and combine prunes, apricots, olives, one cup water, sugar, vinegar and cloves. Heat to boiling point, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Pour over the lamb and bake, uncovered, 30 minutes more. Serve from the casserole.

POST CRESCENT News of the TWIN CITIES Neenah - Menasha

Additional Posts On School Board Legal, Giese Rules Referendum Not Needed Under Law, Menasha City Attorney Says

Menasha — "The May, 1957, creation of two new positions on the Menasha board of education by the city council was entirely legal without submission to a referendum," City Atty. William R. Giese ruled today.

The school board Jan. 8 had asked Giese's opinion on the "legal status of the school board, as presently constituted."

School board members had questioned whether a referendum vote should have been held when the board was increased from five to seven members last year by council action.

In his letter to the board, Giese pointed out that a school district containing a city of the third class, as Menasha is, may have three, five, seven or nine members on the board.

He added that only a council resolution was needed to make the change. According to state law, the additional positions are considered vacancies on the board at the time they are created. The mayor appointed two more members to the school board after the council action.

The board also approved the payment of regular bills totaling $15,903; construction account bills for $8,064, and extra curricular activity fund checks for $2,514.

The board was informed by the park board that the rental fee of the Memorial building for use as a kindergarten classroom would remain at $125 a month.

gan loading and hauling the bales to the city dump Wednesday afternoon and worked until 2:45 this morning. Hauling was resumed at 8 o'clock this morning and at noon today the job still hadn't been completed.

Three Menasha firemen are still at the scene spraying the bales while three more are at the dumps. They will remain on the job until all the bales have been removed from the buildings.

35 Firemen

At the height of the fire there were 35 firemen fighting the flames with eight firemen from Neenah, 11 from Appleton and 16 from Menasha. Seven lines and about 5,000 feet of hose were used by the three departments.

Appleton and Neenah firemen left the scene at 12:15 and 1:10 Wednesday afternoon, respectively, and two of Menasha's three trucks left at 5:30 Wednesday night. The last Menasha truck returned to the fire station at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Neenah and Menasha Red Cross disaster service units provided coffee and refreshments for the firemen Wednesday afternoon and evening while St. Thomas church provided refreshments for the firemen all night and early this morning.

David and Hannah Rosenthal of Appleton, owners of the warehouses located in back of St. Thomas Episcopal church, said they had no official loss estimate but that it would take at least $40,000 to replace the buildings.

Joseph Burstein, of Meyer Burstein and Sons, renters of the buildings, said the company's loss in rags stored in the building amounted to $30,000, all of which was insured. The Rosenthals were only allowed $8,000 worth of insurance on their buildings.

Neenah, Menasha and Appleton firemen fought the blaze all Wednesday morning before bringing it under control. The fire fighters were able to save another building owned by the Rosenthals and rented by the Max Liess company.

Menasha firemen kept spraying the smoldering bales of rags all Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Cancer Crusade and Supply Chairmen from 13 counties in Northeastern Wisconsin met with society officials Wednesday at the Valley Inn in Neenah. Among the present were, seated, left to right, Mrs. Edgar Mueller of Calumet county, Miss Mildred Webster and Mrs. H. W. Kleinschmit of Winnebago county. Standing are Mrs. Don Morrissey of Outagamie county, Mrs. Lester Brandt of Calumet county, Mrs. Sam Salan of Waupaca county and R. O. McLean, executive director of the Wisconsin division of the American Cancer society. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Twelve Menashans Register to Vote

Menasha — Twelve Menasha citizens registered to vote in the March 4 primary elections during an open house at the city offices Wednesday night. City Clerk Ira Clough said today. All those registering were from the Third ward. Residents have until 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to register for the primary election for mayor.

Winneconne Area Man Admits $15 Bad Check

Oshkosh — William Staeger, 29, route 1, Winneconne, pleaded guilty this morning of issuing a worthless $15 check to an Oshkosh hotel. Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger deferred judgment to Friday.

Clovis School Changes Save Menasha $1,762

Council Had Objected to Revisions Because They Were Not Explained Clearly in Minutes

Menasha — The Menasha school board Wednesday night saved $1,762 by approving two change orders at the new Clovis elementary school.

At the council's Feb. 4 meeting, six aldermen voted against the approval of the school board's Jan. 22 minutes because two change orders, the ones approved last night, were not explained in the board's minutes.

A saving of $2,084 was made by one change order which called for the omission of 15 hot food carriers to be used in the Clovis school kitchen. Original plans were to buy 30 carriers but board members felt 15 would be enough.

The other change order will cost $332 more than originally budgeted. This change is for continuous stainless steel base in the kitchen.

Commissioners also moved to include a detailed copy of the change order in the board minutes. Several school board minutes recently have failed to receive the council's approval because of lack of detailed explanation.

To Attend Meeting

Miss Helen Halpert will attend the annual spring meeting of the Wisconsin Speech Correction association at Madison on March 14.

The junior-senior high school Parent - Teacher association in Wednesday's Post-Crescent was given $100 by the board to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, this morning reported the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Birr, route 2, Menasha.

Twin City Births

Neenah — Theda Clark hospital today reported the following births:

Son to:
Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Henss, 403 Nicolet boulevard, Neenah.
Daughters to:
Mr. and Mrs. Donald Olski, 866 Maple street, Neenah.
Mr. and Mrs. Lew Holinbeck, 541 Fairview avenue, Neenah.
Mr. and Mrs. F. Glenn Sturm, route 2, Neenah, are the parents of a daughter born at St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, and not a son as stated in Wednesday's Post-Crescent.

Dates Set for Immunization Of Children

Clinics Scheduled At Winneconne, Winchester Schools

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Combined inoculations against whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus will be available to children between the ages of three months and 12 years, Mrs. Lucille J. Ruedinger, county nurse, announced today.

Three inoculations, one month apart, are necessary for complete immunity. There is a 25-cent fee for each injection.

The injections will be at the Winneconne central school on Feb. 18, March 18 and April 15, and at the Winchester school Feb. 25, March 25 and April 22, between 9 and 10 o'clock each morning on those dates.

Children who have had the series of three injections previously may have a booster shot on any one of the clinic dates.

Smallpox vaccinations also will be available to children who have never been vaccinated or who wish to be re-vaccinated. Parents who desire these protections are to be at the Winneconne or Winchester school when the clinic opens to sign a parent's request card, Mrs. Ruedinger said.

Pleads Innocent To Conduct Charge
Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Frank F. Fritsch, 40, who lives at the YMCA in Appleton, pleaded innocent of drunkenness and disorderly conduct this morning before Municipal Judge S. J. Luchinsinger. Trial was set for Feb. 24. Fritsch was arrested at 12.26 this morning at the home of Mrs. Arlene Fritsch, his former wife, in the town of Menasha. Mrs. Fritsch told sheriff's police that he refused to leave the house. The couple has been divorced since last August.

Fritsch was detained overnight in the county jail and released after his court appearance this morning.

Pastor to Preach On 'Missionary Tasks'
Allenville — "The Missionary Task of the Church: Begin at Jerusalem" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Perry E. Britton at the 10:45 worship service of Community Baptist church Sunday morning. Sunday school is at 9:30.

Lenten services will be held at 8 o'clock each Wednesday evening, starting next week.

7 Chamber Members to Attend 1958 Legislative Aircade

Neenah — Seven members of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce have already signed for the 1958 Legislative Aircade, sponsored by the National Chamber of Commerce, in Milwaukee Monday.

The Milwaukee conference is one of 12 being held in 12 different cities in 18 days. The panel will include Philip M. Talbot, president of the national chamber; Arch N. Booth, executive vice president; Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, director of economic research; Clarence

R. Miles, manager of the legislative department, all of the national chamber, and Felix Morley, a writer. Local and regional business leaders also will sit on the panel. Participants will be able to get answers to specific questions and a chance to team up with other business persons in pressing legislation favorable to business.

Local Chamber of Commerce members who will attend the 1958 congressional issue clinic are George Cameron, John Galoway, Ralph McClone, Leon Tolversen, William McGuire, John Keller and Executive Secretary John G. Konrad. Other members can still make reservations with the chamber of commerce.

Observes 64th Anniversary

Neenah — Among the guests at the sixty-fourth anniversary observance of Neenah chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Wednesday evening at the Neenah Masonic temple was Mrs. Hazel Dewey, Appleton, grand representative of North Carolina in Wisconsin. The next meeting will be Feb. 26.

Mrs. M. C. Borman, Active in Milwaukee church work, was the featured speaker at the annual mid-winter conference of the woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church, diocese of Fond du Lac, held Wednesday at St. Thomas Episcopal church. Shown at the meeting are, from the left, Mrs. Charles M. Pors, Marshfield, the diocesan auxiliary president; Mrs. Borman. Mrs. R. B. Sawtell, chairman of the conference and Mrs. Edward Hart, president of the woman's auxiliary of St. Thomas church. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Prayer Is Subject For Conference

Neenah — Speaking at the annual mid-winter conference of the woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church, diocese of Fond du Lac, Mrs. M. C. Borman, an active church woman from Milwaukee, explained the functions and advantages of prayer groups to approximately 50 people, representing various churches in the diocese. "Teach Us to Pray" was the subject of her talk. "People should not balk at regiment in spiritual life," she advised. "Prayer is like the bannister on a staircase," explained the speaker, "without it, the journey would be less safe, more laborious and less beautiful."

Numerating the advantage of small prayer group meetings, Mrs. Borman explained they are part of the liturgical movement in urging laity as well as the clergy to pray. A member of her group in Milwaukee felt the groups were a good counterpart to the more formal Sunday services and another added they were a welcome release from the tensions of daily living. "Prayer groups should not be too large," she advised, "and leadership should be rotated." Other pointers she gave included summer meetings and dividing the groups once they exceeded 12 members. After Mrs. Borman's talk, those attending the conference split into small groups and discussed the topic, "What a Spiritual Rule of Life Should Be," and members prepared sample prayer group meetings.

Couples Club Will Present TV Programs

Neenah — Adaptations of television programs will be featured at the 7:45 Saturday evening meeting of the Couples club of Our Savior's Lutheran church at Fellowship hall. Robert Thom, Jens Sorensen and Gordon Mortensen are on the program committee and refreshment co-chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lintner.

Who's New Club to Hold Annual Party

Neenah — Who's New club will hold its annual "sweetheart" party at 6:30 Saturday evening at the Valley Inn. Cards will follow the dinner. General chairman of the party, to which husbands of members have been invited, will be Mrs. Johannes Foght. She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Sexton and Mrs. Thomas Seidel.

Safety Council Will Hear Talk On Alcoholism

Allis-Chalmers Firm
Supervisor to Speak
At Dinner Meeting

Menasha — For its sixth dinner meeting of the season for supervisors and foremen, the Twin City Industrial Safety council is presenting a talk on alcoholism in industry. The dinner will be at 6:30 Wednesday night at Germania hall.

Speaking to the group will be Henry Mielcarek, manager of personnel services of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company at West Allis. Reservations for the dinner are to be made as soon as possible with Dan Danielson, Neenah vocational school director.

Mielcarek has appeared before audiences throughout the United States and Canada and has lectured at institutes and conferences in colleges and universities throughout the country. He also has been instrumental in setting up rehabilitation programs in many communities and industries.

His talks have emphasized the human side of business. He has pioneered in mental health programs and is known internationally for his work on alcoholic rehabilitation.

Counseling Services
Mielcarek attended Marquette university law school and in 1931 joined the Milwaukee county welfare department where he became a district director. He joined Allis-Chalmers in 1942, at which time he established counseling services for supervisors and employees of the company.

At present he is a director of the Wisconsin council on alcoholism and is one of the board of directors of the family service of Milwaukee county. He has served in various capacities with Milwaukee county and state social and welfare organizations.

The First Uranium Concentrate from Wisconsin ore is displayed by George Friedrich and Clifford Klutz of Menasha, partners in the Little Wolf claim near Big Falls. The four ounces of concentrate was reduced from 45 pounds of ore taken from the Waupaca county claim and shipped to Boulder, Colo. Carlton Wieckert of Appleton is the other partner in the claim. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Uranium Concentrate Holds Mining Hopes

Ore From Big Falls Claim Upgraded to Commercial Value Holds Hope for Future

Menasha—Three small plastic packets mailed to Menasha from Boulder, Colo., this week may hold the answer to the hopes of many Wisconsin prospectors holding low grade uranium claims.

The packets contained four ounces of concentrated, upgraded uranium reduced from 45 pounds of ore taken from the Little Wolf claim near Big Falls in Waupaca county.

It is the first concentrated uranium taken from Wisconsin ore and it represents some three years of work and hope by George Friedrich, 410 Nassau street.

Friedrich, Clifford Klutz, 711 Broad street, and Carlton Wieckert, 1704 W. Loraine court, Appleton, have been working the Little Wolf claim.

Good Assays
Atomic Energy commission assays have revealed their ore is of better than minimum quality. They have been doing some stock piling and have continued to develop their claim.

But with processing plants many hundreds of miles away, the future didn't look very bright. Their story is multiplied by other prospectors in the state and other sections of the nation.

The plastic packets represent a possible renewal of hope for these prospectors and the opening of more fissionable material reserves for the nation's atomic program.

The concentrate was reduced by the Rocky Mountain Standard, Inc., of Boulder, in a plant which can be constructed semi-portably and set up near producing mines.

Like Taconite Process
The process does for uranium what the taconite process is doing for iron ore. It upgrades low grade ore to a usable and commercial level. Unlike the taconite process it is relatively inexpensive and entails less ponderous equipment.

Also similar to the iron ore situation, the concentrate process promises to expand a fast dwindling, vital natural resource.

The hunt for uranium is only a few years old and the national known reserve of commercial fissionable material amounts to a 10 year supply.

The revelation was made by Paul F. Genachte, director of the atomic energy division of the Chase Manhattan bank, at the 61st National Western Mining conference at Rocky Mountain, Colo., last week.

Several factors have combined to forestall the opening of more uranium reserves in the country. The concentration of processing plants and mills near the original finds in the west is a chief factor.

Action of the administration reducing the guaranteed price of newly discovered ore has also been a deterrent to farther prospecting.

"Uranium," a trade journal for uranium prospectors, is attempting to formulate federal court action to force the government to return to the promises made in Circular 5 for the guaranteed price which was supposed to have been in effect until March of 1962.

The possibility of bringing processing plants to mines outside of the concentrated western area is thought to promise a brighter future for remote area prospectors and, hence, a resurgence of the prospecting fever that swept the nation a few years ago.

The Big Falls - Marion area in Waupaca county appears to be an ideal location of such a processing plant in the state. The process, say its operators, needs plenty of water and electrical power for its operations. Big Falls is a central location for electric power and the Little Wolf and Little Pigeon rivers provide more than enough water.

Besides the Friedrich, Klutz, Wieckert claim there are other claims in the Big Falls area as well as in the Boulder and Tilleda areas in Shawano county.

More Investigation
Friedrich said the processing firm is planning on making further examination of the area this spring in the view of locating there.

In announcements to the mining industry, the federal government has indicated its chief interest in encouraging or locat-

G. K. Crowell To Head K-C Finance Unit

W. H. Clifford Transferred to President's Office

Neenah — G. K. Crowell, legal vice president and secretary of Kimberly-Clark corporation, also will direct financial and comptroller divisions, John R. Kimberly, president and chairman of the board, announced today.

W. H. Clifford, formerly vice president of finance, assumes responsibility for special assignments in the president's office. He will continue as a vice president and director of Kimberly-Clark and member of the corporation's executive committee.

Fire Destroys Barn, Cattle Near Eureka

Oshkosh — Fire destroyed a barn, adjacent milk shed and a herd of 30 dairy cattle on the Jack Langenberg farm, one mile north of Eureka, early this morning. Loss was estimated at $35,000.

Julynn Langenberg, who operates the farm, said he was awakened at 1:15 by the dog barking and noticed the corner of the barn on fire. He ran to neighbors to call the town of Omro fire department but was unable to awaken them. He had to walk a quarter of a mile to another neighbor to call. The barn was in flames when he returned.

Firemen from the towns of Omro and Rushford fought the blaze. It is believed to have started by defective wiring.

ing mills for fissionable materials" is now turned to "remote areas," which the Waupaca county site qualifies.

The plastic packets of concentrated uranium are now merely curiosity pieces in Menasha, but the gray granules they hold may prove to be the forerunners of a stream of ore that will create a new industry in the Fox Cities area that will feed the nation's "atoms for peace" program and give substance to the fantastic promises of the future.

Menasha Eyes 4th Straight Win at Expense of Truckers

Jays Make 1st Start Since Upset Victory Over Shawano

Menasha — Menasha's upstart Bluejays, conquerors of its last three opponents including mighty Shawano, jaunts to Clintonville Friday night for its eleventh Mid-Eastern conference game of the season and the fourth in the second round.

Since starting the second half of the schedule, the Bluejays have been unbeaten, with Kimberly, New London and Shawano falling in that order. Wins over the Papermakers and state champion Indians avenged earlier setbacks.

Coach Lucian Gajewski's athletes defeated Clintonville rather handily (the score was 78-49) in their first meeting and the Menasha mentor fears a let-down.

Post Single Win

Although they've only copped one game (that over winless New London), the Truckers have come close on other occasions and could spell plenty of trouble for the Menashans. Clintonville lost to Kaukauna by two and three points and to Two Rivers by two in three of its better games. It had one of its poorest nights of the year Tuesday and was thumped 82-59 by unbeaten Hortonville of the Little Nine.

The Jays again will be without the services of Hal Jorgenson, a starter until injured in the pre-game warmup drills prior to the Kimberly game on Jan. 28. He suffered a foot injury and only returned to practice this week.

Pleasant Topic

The win over Shawano will be a pleasant topic for Menasha fans and players for a long time to come. Here was a team that had 14 straight wins this season, 24 over the last two, had only two losses in last 49 games and was ranked No. 1 in the state and if the Jays don't win another game this season, the victory over the Indians already has made it a success.

In looking back to the Shawano game, Gajewski declared that the club didn't make a mistake until the fourth quarter when Shawano took advantage of a couple of errors to cut the margin from seven points to one.

When playing their deliberate game, the Menashans handled the ball well, weren't called for traveling and not once was one of the Bluejays tied up in a jump ball situation while they were controlling the ball.

But back to Clintonville. In recent games the Truckers have been getting some good scoring from John Dahly, 6-3 center, who has moved up to sixth place in the league point race.

After being held to four points by Shawano in the second game of the season, he has hit in the double figures in each tilt since then. He had a pair of 24-point efforts against Two Rivers and Kimberly.

Leon Westphal, sophomore forward, who started fast, has been held to 32 points in the last four games. Playing his varsity game against the Jays will be Wayne Moder, a sophomore, elevated from the jayvees four games ago. He has 34 points in those four tilts.

Smashes 605 Honor Series

Dorothy Allen Rolls Her 3rd National Threesome of Season; Spang Paces Commercial Loop

Neenah — Neenah Women's City league bowlers continued to control the maples at Muench's Wednesday evening with the fifth honor count in as many weeks going up on the board. It was a 605 turned in by Dorothy Allen, her third 600-plus series of the season.

Twin City fair sex bowlers now have nine totals of 600 or better for the year. Mrs. Allen had a 654 on Oct. 23 and a 602 on Jan. 22. Percy Resch has hit 675, 637 and 614 and Mary Collier 602 and 627. The only non-City league count was Viola Raether's 600 in the Thursday Afternoon Ladies league at Muench's on Jan. 30.

Mrs. Allen opened Wednesday night's high score with a 209 game. She dipped to 184 in the second and closed with a 212.

Delores Larsen copped runner-up series honors with her 562 count, which included a 203 game. Ursula Krambs posted 190-515, Lorraine Otto 500, Ed-

Bergstrom '5' Ties Lakeview For 1st Place

Topples Foundry; Headquarters Nets Win Over Badgers

Neenah Industrial League

Team	W	L	Points
Bergstrom's	3	0	Foundry
Lakeview	2	0	Company 1
Headquarters	2	2	Badger-Globe
Neenah Paper	2	2

Wednesday's Results:

Neenah Paper 61, Company 1 49.
Bergstrom's 38, Neenah Foundry 24.
Headquarters 50, Badger-Globe 39.

Neenah — Bergstrom Paper moved into a tie for first place with Lakeview in the Neenah Industrial Basketball league by turning back Neenah Foundry 38-24 at the Roosevelt gym Wednesday night.

The winners all but tucked the game away in the first quarter as they raced to a 16-0 lead. They had a 23-7 halftime advantage and were on the long end of a 31-15 score at the close of three frames.

Jerry Beckerson and Rufus Ihde both had 11 points to pace the Bergstrom attack. Harry Sturgis hit eight baskets to account for two-thirds of the Foundry total.

Neenah Paper registered a 63-42 verdict over Company 1. The victors advanced to a 1-7 first quarter lead over the National Guard and were in front 28-18 at halftime and 46-30 after three segments.

Koslorek Nets 25 Joe Koslorek hit 25 points, Gerald Bubolz had 15 and Leon Johnson scored 14 for Neenah Paper. Dave Zolkowski collected 17 and Bob Schultz had 11 for Company 1.

Headquarters came through with a 50-39 triumph over Badger-Globe. The Badgers led 13-9 after a quarter but were limited to five points in the second period to Headquarters' 22 for a 31-18 lead by the latter. Headquarters led 41-32 after three frames.

Don Christensen had 12 points and Williams tallied 10 for

Entertains Papermaker Quint; Twin City Club Nets Overall 14-1 Mark; Get 6th Ranking

Neenah — Neenah's rampaging Rockets, winners 14 times in 15 outings, will attempt to repel the challenges of Kimberly in a Mid-Eastern conference game here Friday evening.

The Rockets, elevated into a tie for first place last weekend when they defeated Two Rivers while Menasha was upsetting Shawano, play three of their last four league games at home. They are at New London next Friday, entertain Menasha the next night and close here against Shawano on Feb. 28. They have a 9-1 league slate.

Going into Friday's collision the Rockets hold the No. 6 ranking in the state. Although they beat a pretty good team in Two Rivers last week and Shawano and Wausau, the Nos. 1 and 2 clubs, were defeated, the Rockets dropped a notch while the Indians and Lumberjacks retained their top rankings.

In Kimberly, the Rockets will be meeting a team that they bested 62-51 last Dec. 20. The Red and White led 11-10 at the quarter, 33-24 at halftime and 40-37 at the close of three periods. Fred Seggelink and Dave Thomsen each had 22 points to account for 44 of the Rockets' total.

Headquarters, Pete Burghardt had 19 for the Badgers.

Derouin Collects 609 Set to Share Tuesday Laurels

Neenah — Ralph Kiesow pounded a 267 game and Francis Derouin posted a 609 series, including 209 and 205 lines, in the Lakewood Goodfellowship Bowling league Tuesday night at Lakewood.

Mike Dorow rolled 211-558, Louis Mottel 553, Richard Fank 55, Cy Anderson 542, Viler Zilisch 536, George Schultz 239-529, Ron Boushley 526, Orvis Erdman 200, Jim Kampe 203 and Lee Blank 204.

Teltz collected a 996 game and Menasha Morton's had a 2,736 series for team highs. Town Club leads with a 40-20 record. Hoernings has 37-23 and Morton's 36-23. Morton's, Ed and Woody's and J. Werth Excavating all won three games.

Cora Smarzynski posted a 550 series with 212 and 189 games to pace the Lakewood Ladies' handicap league Tuesday night.

Rolls 522 Trio June Landskron netted 522, Irene Hanselman 494, Margaret Steinacker 190 and Dorothy Sorenson 183. Split cleanups included Virginia Ebel 5-7, Marcia Long 5-7, Mildred Ritchie and Mary Laurin 5-10, Delores Kading 3-7-10, Margaret Steinacker 5-10, and Martha Streck 4-5-7.

Wanserski's clipped a 791 game and Larson's had 2,169

82 tallies while Jack Lamers, Don Hearden and Darrell Jensen hit 15, 14 and 11, respectively, for Kimberly.

Since defeating Kimberly, the Rockets have won six of seven games, turning back Janesville, New London, Menasha, Clintonville, Kaukauna and Two Rivers with the loss to Shawano.

After they played the Rockets, the Papermakers trimmed St. John and St. Mary in non-league outings, defeated Clintonville, Kaukauna and New London in league play and lost to Shawano, Menasha and Two Rivers in Mid-Eastern conference activity.

Going into the contest, the Rockets have a total of 656 points in league play to rank second to Shawano while the Twin Citians have allowed 499 for first in the defensive department.

The Papermakers, who have a 6-4 league slate to tie Two Rivers for third, have tallied 642 points for the third best offensive total and have allowed 593 to tie the Kaukauna for third in defense.

Marion Visits Wittenberg '5' Friday Night

CENTRAL WISCONSIN CONFERENCE
Wittenberg	11	Amherst	4
Marion	10	Bondue	1
Wauwage	8	Wausau	1
Wausau	7	Wausau	1

FRIDAY NIGHT'S GAMES:
Marion at Wittenberg.
Wausau at Amherst.
Bondue at Wausau.

If Wittenberg High school's basketball team can achieve revenge for an earlier trouncing at the hands of Marion Friday night, the homecoming Maroons can clinch the undisputed championship in the Central Wisconsin conference. The Pigeons will shoot for a first-place tie.

Marion was a 63-43 winner over Wittenberg the first time around. By winning their final two games, with Wittenberg and Amherst, the Pigeons would clinch at least a share of the crown.

Marion has superior offensive and defensive records. The Pigeons have averaged 67 points in their 12 CW games, while the Maroons have averaged 62.9. Defensively, the Pigeons have allowed 52 points per game to 53.6 for Wittenberg.

In the first game Marion's halftime lead was just 30-26 but the hosts poured it on in the second half. Ken Wolff and Terry Balderson — Marion's tallest player at 6-3 — led the Pigeons with 18 and 17 points, respectively. The Pigeons have lost to Iola (62-54) and Wausau (63-40).

Another tilt Friday sends Wausau to Iola with third place in the offing. By repeating an earlier 64-62 win the hosts could sew up the third spot.

Amherst will seek to repeat an earlier 58-45 win over visiting Wausau and host Marau will go after a reversal of a first round 47-36 loss to Bondue in other pairings.

Wausau May Have to Forfeit Its Northern League Franchise

Wausau — Wausau — still $100 short of its $2,000 Northern league deposit fee — will decide Friday whether to field a baseball team this season, that is if the league doesn't forfeit the franchise.

The board of directors of the Class C club met Wednesday night to count up its funds and found the total was only $1,900. The league had given the city extra time in which to make the payment.

Denies Delay Okayed
Wednesday night in Duluth, Minn., Pete Bradbury, league president, said he is polling the other members of the 6-team loop to decide whether Wausau's franchise should be forfeited.

"So far as I can see," Bradbury said, "Wausau is just a club on paper — with no players, no manager, no equipment and no money." He said he was calling a meeting of the directors in Minneapolis later this week to discuss disposition of the franchise. He added that the meeting would also decide

Lawrence college basketballers are motoring northward over miles of frozen acreage today, spurred on by visions of a cage victory which would make the season of 1957-8 not quite so long, nor quite so cold.

The Vikings' best chances for bagging a victory in Minnesota's frigid tundra over the weekend appear to be Friday night when St. Olaf's gym facilities are at Lawrence's disposal.

Saturday, Coach Don Boya's worthies have more formidable Carleton as their antagonist. Carls Eye Lead

The sports weekend in Northfield has more important features than Lawrence's seemingly interminable quest for its first cage victory since March, 1956. The Carls could move into a first place tie or into the sole lead this weekend with the right combination of circumstances.

If Carleton stops Ripon Friday night and Lawrence Saturday, it would gain a tie for the top spot should Knox — the current first-placer but seemingly fading since the loss of John Liston — fall at either Grinnell Friday or Cornell Saturday.

Monmouth, still a title contender, exchanges opponents with Knox while the Vikes do likewise with Ripon, to complete the 8-game weekend card.

"Our guys really want to win," Lawrence coach Don Boya reports. And, there can be no doubt that the little tutor the future of the circuit with Wausau out.

Bradbury denied, as had been reported earlier, that Wausau had been granted a delay in the deadline for paying its $2,000 entry fee.

Bradbury commented after attending a dinner meeting of the Duluth-Superior Booster club. He said that with the training season start just 60 days away, the league might have to take over and operate the franchise. He mentioned Sioux Falls, S. D.; Watertown, S. D.; and Sioux City, Iowa, as possible sites.

With Wausau in, the league would have had 10 teams this season, but Bradbury said it might be necessary to revert to eight, by dropping the proposed Bismark-Mandan, N. D. entry. Wausau re-entered the league last year.

Giardello Wins 15th Straight

Takes Unanimous Decision From Franz Suzuzina

Philadelphia — Joey Giardello won a fight here Wednesday night but the fourth-ranking middleweight will need to be a lot sharper if he plans to mix it up with tough Carman Basilio or aging Ray Robinson in the near future.

The 27-year-old Brooklyn-born Italian won a unanimous 10-round decision over Franz Suzuzina, a tough German mauler. The verdicts of the referee and two judges read 48-44, 49-41 and 47-45.

After winning the first two rounds handily, Giardello seemed to crawl into a shell. Through the third, fourth and fifth rounds Suzuzina, 27, banged Giardello with both hands and appeared on the verge of turning in a major upset.

Has Giardello Bleeding
He had Giardello bleeding from a cut above his left eye and another across the left cheek. But Giardello managed to find the range with long right hands and solid combinations in the late rounds. He piled up enough points for his seventy-fifth win against 13 defeats, 5 draws and 1 "no contest" decision.

The victory boosted Giardello's winning streak to 15 straight and kept alive his hopes of a summer title fight with the Basilio-Robinson winner. His manager, Tony Ferrante, said Giardello may fight Charley Humez in April in Paris, or return to Philadelphia for a fight with "suitable opponent."

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S RESULTS:
New Holstein Holy Rosary 51, Oshkosh St. Peter 29 (Double Overdraw).
Neenah St. Margaret Mary 35, Menasha St. John 14.

TONIGHT'S GAMES:
2nd — 11th St. John vs. Appleton St. Theresa (quarter-finals).
8th — Menasha St. Patrick vs. Menasha St. Mary (quarter-finals).

Neenah St. Margaret Mary and New Holstein Holy Rosary moved into the quarter-finals of the fifth annual Appleton St. Mary Grade School Basketball tournament with Wednesday evening victories.

The Neenah club tripped St. John Menasha, 33-14, after leading just 13-6 at the half. Dick Wisner and Tim Brown each collected eight points for the victors while Tom Maskiewicz coined six for St. John.

Holy Rosary had to go into two overtimes to pull out a 31-29 triumph over Oshkosh St. Peter. The score was tied 23-23 at game's end and 27-27 after one extra period. Outshot from the floor, 12 baskets to nine, Holy Rosary made 13 of 25 free throws to provide the victory margin. Vern Bonlander coined 17 for the winners.

Terrors Gun for First-Place Tie in Duel with Manty '5'

Post-Crescent Sports Editor
After Manitowish's skilled Shipbuilders felled Appleton High school's basketball team, 75-52, Jan. 10, nothing could have been farther from the realm of probability than that their next (Feb. 14) encounter with the Terrors would take the form of a Fox River Valley conference summit meeting.

The Ships undoubtedly surmised (and other FRVC teams, weary of AHS' prolonged sports domination, probably hoped) that the Terrors had been reduced to a second-rate cage power. The beating, which put AHS two games off the hot Manty pace, looked like a crushing blow, psychologically as well as mathematically.

Have Bounced Back
But, with typical Terror resiliency, the Dick Emanuel-directed basketballers have bounced back to the threshold of the league lead with six successive wins. If the Terrors can "negotiate" the right terms, point-wise, in their hardcourt hassle with Manty, they'll gain equal rank with the Ships atop the FRVC. Several thousand fans (seated and standing) are expected to witness the spectacle.

The Terrors have played their best ball in games they've "had" to win.

Their recent exciting conquests of Green Bay East, Sheboygan Central and Green Bay West were all made in full light of the knowledge that a slip would likely have been fatal to their aims for a second straight title.

Unbeaten on Road
The pressure will be on the Terrors again Friday night. The Shipbuilders are ranked No. 8 in the state and have not lost a game on the road.

AHS' chances of bridging the 23-point gap that existed between the teams last month depend on more than merely gaining the home-court advantage through a switching of sites for the rematch. And, there are indications that the Terrors have improved to a greater degree than Manty, which was already at or near its peak Jan. 10.

AHS has developed better-balanced scoring, has progressed to a 70-50 average.

St. Norbert '5' Loses In Closing Seconds
Houghton, Mich. — Carl Johnson's two free throws in the final seconds gave Michigan Tech a 66-64 basketball victory over St. Norbert college Wednesday.

Gary Harold led scorers with 29 points for St. Norbert. Jack Kelly scored 20 for Michigan Tech.

Terrors Ranked Among 'Big 16' For First Time

Gains 14th Spot; Shawano Retains No. 1 Position

Appleton's basketball Terrors today achieved a place on the state's "big 16" list of prep teams for the first time this season. After being on the "special mention" roster much of the season, AHS has risen to fourteenth place on the basis of six straight wins and an 11-3 record.

Despite posting a convincing victory over Two Rivers last Friday, Neenah was dropped from fifth to sixth by the WIAA's state tournament rating committee.

Wausau Still Second
Menasha's shattering upset of Shawano failed to dislodge the 2-time champion Indians from the No. 1 spot. And, a loss to Shawano did nothing to drop Wausau from the runnerup position.

Newcomers to the Big 16, besides Appleton, are Milwaukee Washington, Richmond, Grantsburg and LaCrosse Logan. The latter two are tied for the sixteenth spot. Dropping from the list are Arcadia, Watertown, Oconto and Medford.

Hortonville, winner of 17 straight in a clean sweep of regular-season games, remains second to equally-unbeaten Marshall on the Little 16. Newcomers to the Little 16 are Gale-Ettrick, Sun Prairie and Shell Lake.

Marion (14-2) remain in the special mention category.

Big Sixteen

Red' Has Heart Set On Winning Bat Title
Schoendienst said "I came along fast in the last month of the season, but after I reached 500 at-bats I'd have to have a 5-for-5 day to pick up a point on him. He just stayed the same and won the title."

Schoendienst, who was 35 Feb. 2, admitted that the lead-off position and the fact that he seldom draws a base on balls works against him as far as the batting title is concerned.

"Sure, it's tougher," he said, "but I've got as good a chance as anybody else. That's the one goal I've set for myself that I've never achieved."

The Braves' second baseman predicted the batting race will be a wide open affair with Hank Aaron, Stan Musial, Willie Mays and Eddie Mathews in the running.

"It'll probably take an average of 100 at-bats to get a good shot at it,"

Robertson Hits 40 Points as Bearcats Win

Guy Rodgers Sets School Career Mark at Temple

By The Associated Press
Looks more and more as if the Cincinnati, Ohioans got away with about the tidiest hunk of college basketball talent around when they latched on to 19-year-old Oscar Robertson from the Indianapolis, Indiananians a year and a half ago. Oscar, the brilliant Bearcat, startled 'em with Cincinnati's freshman team last year, excited the most blasé New York critics with a 56-point show, a couple weeks ago. . . and Wednesday night? Well, Robbie just about clinched the Bearcats' first trip to the NCAA championships.

Increases Lead
The former Indianapolis high school whiz scored 40 points as Cincinnati whipped Bradley, 94-77, to open a 14-game lead in the battle for the Missouri Valley conference title. He scored 31 points in the second half, 18 of them in a 5-minute stretch after Bradley, made the score 58-55.

While Robertson was letting himself go, some of the nation's other bigwigs were improving their qualifications for post-season tournaments. West Virginia, ranked No. 2 a step behind Kansas State and a step ahead of Cincinnati, clinched the regular season title in the Southern conference, crushing VMI, 104-58.

Sixth-ranked Oklahoma State, sought by both the NCAA and the National Invitation tournaments while playing as an independent this year, walloped twentieth-ranked Oklahoma, 70-50, for a 16-2 record. And Temple, now No. 7, reeled off its sixteenth straight win 71-61 over LaSalle as Guy Rodgers scored 25 points for a school career record of 1,545.

Dayton, also a prize tournament catch, made it 12 straight with a 62-53 defeat of DePaul. Notre Dame, with Tommy Hawkins scoring 33, spilled Butler, 90-81, and the Ivy League leader, Dartmouth, won its eighth straight league game 76-64 over Harvard.

Henry Gleisner Slaps 595 in Western League

Merchants league bowlers at the Elks club Wednesday night were paced by Norb Rahn and his 613 series by Baron Plumbing. Rahn topped lines of 213 and 214 along the route.

"Hap" Strebig shot the loudest game, a 237, for Jahnke Wreckers. He wound up with a 528.

Van Wink T-V (39-27) shares first place with Baron's. Henry Gleisner captured game and series honors in the Elks Western league with tallies of 243 and 505. The Stanford and Idaho teams (38-25) are tied for the circuit top spot.

Mel Woltd wrapped up both game and series laurels in the Fraternal wheel at Hahn's, with counts of 214 and 590 for Moose 367. AAL No. 2 (42-24) tops the circuit by one line.

Casey Glasheen and Frank Sanders divided Industrial loop laurels at Hahn's. Glasheen dumped the top threesome, a 570, for Jimos Hats. Sanders rolled the best game, a 223, and wound up with a 567.

Little Henri Keeps Richard Name High On Scoring List

By The Associated Press
Big Brothers Maurice Richard has been out of National Hockey game play since a November injury, but little guy Henri is doing okay keeping the Richard name up among the scoring leaders.

Henri, rapidly coming of age with something of the class that has made Maurice the top scorer in NHL history, fired in two more goals Wednesday night as the Montreal Canadiens whipped Toronto, 5-2, in the league's only game.

Henri Richard is only two points behind teammate Dickie Moore in the race for league scoring honors. Moore, contributing an assist on Henri's first goal, has 67 points to Henri's 65.

Manager Paul Richards, Left, shows newcomers Jack Harshman and Dave Nicholson the park in which the Baltimore Orioles began spring drills Wednesday. Harshman was obtained in a winter trade with the Chicago White Sox. Nicholson, hard-hitting teen-aged outfielder from St. Louis, reportedly received a $110,000 bonus for signing with Baltimore. Vikes Will Play Two Games At Northfield

Blust and Bert Elliott, were a bit below par in practice this week but should be ready for the Oles. Blust was still favoring an ankle sprain sustained in Friday's loss to Coe while Elliott's problem is an apparently strained tendon.

Despite the two games last weekend, Boya had his proteges practicing Monday night. It is his feeling that Blust, Jack Close and George Thomas — all of whom joined the club at the start of the second semester — still aren't in ideal playing condition.

After Tuesday and Wednesday drills, the Vikes were slated to leave for Northfield today. Close, Blust and Willie Weber will be forecourt starters Friday with Jack Leatham and Bill Wood at guards. Elliott is Boya's first back court substitute.

Wood Hit 18

The first time they met, St. Olaf tripped Lawrence, 67-52, as Arline Berkvam (6-31) whipped in 16 points and George Miner (6-1) and Pete Nestade (6-31) 13 apiece for the winners. Wood hit 18 and Elliott 11 for Lawrence.

Carlson subdued the Vikings, 64-45, with 6-8 sophomore Ivan Grimm hitting 13 points and 5-9 Lynn Kraive 12 for the Carls. Wood, Tom Kayser and Willie Weber each connected on nine for Lawrence.

Latest conference scoring statistics, which don't include Tuesday's Coe-Cornell game, show Wood ranking seventh, individually, with 148 points in 10 games.

Redskins Will Play Host to Bays for First Time Since '49

Washington — (AP) — The Washington Redskins will play six National Football league games at Griffith stadium next season, including their first meeting here with the Green Bay Packers since 1949. The club said it already has sold 13,370 season tickets for the afternoon contests.

Ted Husing's $150-Per-Week Contract Cancelled by CBS

New York — (AP) — Ted Husing's agent said Wednesday that the famous sports announcer of yesteryear has lost his $150 a week job at CBS radio which he had held only since last August.

Husing is now at Pasadena, Calif., recovering from a brain tumor, which paralyzed and blinded him in 1954. Mark Hanna, Husing's agent, said news of the cancellation was contained in a CBS letter he forwarded to Husing about three weeks ago. Hanna said no reason was given.

A CBS spokesman said the network reluctantly released Husing because he had not been able to produce anything of usable quality. He said Husing is recovering but has had relapses.

age of at least 345 to win it," he said. "Of course somebody could sneak in and beat us all out."

Schoendienst, who attended the twenty-first annual banquet of the Old Time Ball Players Association of Wisconsin Wednesday night, said the groin injury that put him out of the World Series last fall has healed.

Red said he figures he has at least five years left in baseball.

"You don't start to reach your peak in this game until you're 27," he said. "Maybe you get smarter. Or maybe it's pride, but the best ball players are the so-called old men of 35."

Schoendienst said he thought the Braves would be stronger this season than last, but he cautioned: "It'll be no cakewalk for us. The other clubs are bound to be stronger, too."

Ships Put Sole Lead on Line In AHS Gym

ed defensively and its newcomers have absorbed valuable experience.

Individually, the Terrors three tall-boys — Howie Hamann, Tom Verkuilen and Ron Abel — have perked up offensively and are approaching their full potential as rebounders. Hamann has notched from 10 to 18 points in four of the last six games. Verkuilen, whose scoring was almost nil early in the season, has hit at a lively clip in the last four contests. And sophomore, Abel, held to a single basket at Manitowoc, has put away between three and five in each game since.

Nussbaum Adds Depth

Another sophomore, John Nussbaum, has joined the varsity since the first Manty game and has added important depth to the backcourt.

Another factor that figures to boost Terrors stock Friday is the fitness of Jack Ullwelling. The backcourt sparkler entered the first Manty game recuperating from the effects of a pulled leg muscle and handicapped by an almost total lack of practice in the days preceding the game. Ullwelling managed to score 15 points, but most of them came in the second half after the issue was all but settled.

Ullwelling was at his best as he spearheaded last Friday's vital win over West with 31 points, to boost his FRVC average 21.1 per game.

Despite the improvement of the Terrors (who own an 11-3 record), the Ships will enter the fray as at least slight favorites. Their twelfth win in 13 starts came Tuesday night in a burning 90-84 contest with Two Rivers. The sole Manty less was to Green Bay West in overtime.

Manty has scored at a sizzling conference clip of 70.6 points per game — an average of 7.1 better than the Terrors. Defensively, the Ships have a slimmer advantage — 54.4 to 56.6.

Nelson Top Threat

Blessed with quick reactions, balanced height and good shooting, Manty is as tough as they come. Ultra-aggressiveness paved the way for its victory over the Terrors as well as its big win over Green Bay East last weekend. To date, the Ships have been the most adept in the conference at ball stealing.

Manty's top threat is Bill Nelson. He's third in FRVC scoring — just a whisker behind Ullwelling — with a 20.9 average. Nelson bludgeoned the Terrors with a 28-point total last month. The duel between Nelson and Ullwelling will not only be an interesting side-light but could go far in determining the outcome.

Adams Rink Risks Gilbert Event Lead

The Gilbert event action will round out the fifth week of the Appleton Curling club's 1958 competition Friday night. Al Adams (4-1) takes a half-game lead over Neil Collins into Friday's play.

Last week, Adams beat Joe Schulerberg (2-2) by an 11-10 count, while Collins beat Dick LaBore (3-2), 8 to 5. George Klein won his first game with a forfeit over Ray Fallon (also 1-3).

In other play last week, the Low Phenner and Ed Adams rinks stayed unbeaten. Phenner (5-0) beat Wayne Bryan (1-4) by a count of 9-8 in the Steinberg event. Dan Steinberg won his fourth verdict in five tries by a 14-9 margin over J. R. Joyce. George Klein (2-3) triumphed over Adams (2-3) 9 to 7.

Adam beat Horace Taggart (2-3) in 11 ends, 10-9, for his fifth straight Berggren event win. "Dobbie" Robertson and Bill Urban made their records 3-2 with respective 11-9 and 9-6 wins over Bill Millar and Dudley Eisele.

Schulerberg (4-1) took the sole Pond event lead with a forfeit win over Harry Hoeffel (1-4). Ed Murray slipped one game behind by losing, 10-6, to Fred Allen (2-3). Otto Sherry (3-2) was a 10-9 winner over Bob McGee (2-3) while Nick Engler (3-2) won on forfeit over John Hayes (2-3).

Race Tension Study Topic For Circles

One of the most important sociological problems of our times, race relations, will be the study topic of circles of Memorial Presbyterian church next week. The various units meeting on Monday and Tuesday, will examine race relations as presented by means of a TV quiz panel entitled "I've Got a Problem."

Westminster circle will assemble at 7:30 Monday night at the church guild room. The circle led by Mrs. John Clark will meet at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Boronow, 1002 W. Prospect avenue. Mrs. Alex Pierre and Mrs. A. W. Bohn will assist the hostess and Mrs. Mary Smith will lead devotions. Mrs. Fred Kienitz, program chairman, will be aided by the Mmes. Lester Asmus, Dan Chapman, John Greiner and Edwin Kotke. The home of Mrs. Henry Marty, 21 Cherry court, will be the site of the gathering of Mrs. George Welland's circle at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon when Mmes. Earle Fraser and Walter Storch will aid in entertaining duties. A program is being planned by the Mmes. John Ringleb, chairman, Carl Bertam, Donald Gillespie, Walter Russell, Carroll McEathron and Harold Heller. Mrs. H. V. Brandenburg will give devotions.

Other Circle Sessions
Mrs. Fred Oliver, assisted by the Mmes. William George, Kenneth Peterson, Robert Kenney, Robert Hillmer and Robert Potts, will appear on the panel for the circle of Mrs. Richard Calder which will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. Mrs. William Dykema, 1749 N. Meade street, will be hostess and her assistants will be the Mmes. George and Kenney. Mrs. Douglas Ogilvie will lead devotions.

Another meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening will be held by the Mrs. Charles Cook circle at the home of Mrs. George Nichols, 1736 N. Oneida street. Mrs. David Smith and Mrs. Robert McGee will assist the hostess and Mrs. Robert Snow will give devotions. Mrs. George Petri, program chairman, is being assisted with panel planning by the Mmes. Edward Jacob, Jerome Marquardt, Robert Rosenberg, Richard Platt and George Miotke.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Future Work

Projects for the ensuing year were discussed and approved when the Appleton Memorial Hospital auxiliary board met Wednesday morning at the Appleton Public library. Fund-raising projects will include the selling of advance Home Show tickets and of Chaminade concert tickets, magazine subscriptions, the annual thrift sale in fall and Christmas bazaar, dessert bridges and marathon bridge play.

The auxiliary also has undertaken the selling of tickets for an "African Holiday" style show and movie to be held by the H. C. Prange company at Appleton High school auditorium on Tuesday March 11.

Mrs. Jack Stewart is in charge of the ticket project. New board members welcomed included Mrs. H. D. Pettigrew, recently elected second vice president; Mrs. John Wells, recording secretary and Mrs. R. N. LeVeé member at large.

Committee chairman for auxiliary programs in 1958 are the Mmes. M. A. Schreiner, ways and means; Stanley Hamilton, membership; Carl Schroeder, treasurer; Walter Rugland and Victor Marshall, gift shop; J. B. Wagg, parliamentarian; E. E. Dickey, telephone and personal relations; H. T. Gross, publicity and bulletin; B. E. Heseltine, sewing; Charles McClure, hospital volunteer work and Miss Elsie Kopplin, memorials and historian. Miss Hamilton announced that life memberships in the group are still being accepted.

The next general auxiliary meeting will be in April.

8th Student Recital Set For Friday

The eighth student recital of the 1957-58 Lawrence conservatory of music series will be held at 3:30 Friday afternoon at Peabody hall. It will feature instrumental music from the time of the Elizabethans to the present century.

The program, which is open to the public, is as follows: Suite in A Minor, Telemann; Mary Carla Runte, flute; La cathédrale engloutie, Debussy; Marilyn Lyon, piano; Scaramouche, Milhaud; Jeanne Begalke, saxophone; La Volta, William Byrd; Suite in E Minor, Handel; Sonata in C Major, Scarlatti; Ronald Sindelar, harpsichord; Concerto, Richard Strauss; Lawrence Strieby, French horn; Grace Langendorf, Ronald Leu and Celoris Hackhart will serve as accompanists.

The engagement of Miss Sandra Bloecher to H. Edward Rook, son of Mrs. Woodrow Barker, Chiltonville, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bloecher, Tigerton.

Miss Bloecher is a graduate of Wittenberg High school and is employed at Wisconsin Michigan Power company in Appleton. Her fiancé also was graduated from Wittenberg High school and served two years in the navy. He now is studying at Wisconsin State college, LaCrosse.

A wedding date has not been announced.

Name Study Grant Presented by AAUW

The Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women has announced that a $500 "named" international study grant will be given this year in honor of Mrs. T. E. Orblison, who has been an active member of the branch and who also has served as Wisconsin district AAUW president from 1947 to 1949.

The award, the fourth name grant to be given by the Appleton branch, will be known as the Ann Orblison International grant and will be used to bring a foreign woman student to the United States for further studies.

Fifty international grants are awarded by the national AAUW each year. The purpose of the grants is to help foreign women of outstanding ability continue studies in fields in which they will do constructive work on return to their native countries.

The Appleton branch also awards an annual scholarship to an Appleton High school senior girl who will study at Lawrence college. The scholarship-fellowship program of the branch is financed by an annual book fair which is held each fall.

Our Children

Chronic Complaints May Be Sign of Illness

BY ANGELO PATRI

Everybody knows the child who complains as easily and almost as regularly as he breathes.

A look about the neighborhood soon discloses that the great group of youngsters are doing all right. No complaints. Then, why is it that this one is forever hurting somewhere, forever begging someone to come to his rescue?

"Aw, he's always griping," say his playmates. "Don't bother with him. He can't play anyway."

Check Condition
That's it. He can't play whether it is at home or abroad. For some reason he cannot rise to the standard set by his fellows. That reason is what must be found if the attitude of mind that is expressed by the complaints is to be changed. This is an unhappy child, unhappy because he is failing and he complains and blames to cover his deficiencies.

Many times we find this child is underweight for his height and age. When that seems true, he needs the attention of the family doctor. Usually he can remedy that condition. Sometimes he has a physical defect such as poor vision, defective hearing or infected tonsils. The doctor will discover that too and prescribe for them. Diet has a great deal to do with dispositions so the doctor should be consulted about that.

Most people think that the standard diet of meat, eggs, cheese, milk, green and yellow vegetables and a dessert of fruit or a sweet, is all anybody, child or adult requires. Not always. Some people cannot take that standard diet but need one modified to his needs. Again this is the physician's task and he usually can perform it successfully.

When the body is mended there is still the mind, and if that is unhealthy because of wrong thinking somebody must handle it. Today doctors are trained to treat the mind along with the body and if this is true of the family doctor things will work out.

If it is not true and if the physician is one who shrugs off the need for mental healing better look for someone who knows the need and can meet it.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

The declarer had a good plan in the deal below, but he could have been somewhat more subtle in his timing, for psychological purposes.

South, dealer.

S-J 8 3 2
H-A 10 8 5 3
D-
C-A K 9 8

South West North East
1 H Pass 3 H Pass
4 C Pass 4 D Pass
4 H Pass 4 S Pass
6 H Pass Pass Pass

Since both North and South rather extended themselves in this auction, the slam contract they reached was not conspicuously sound, but with the spade king on-side and the hearts distributed as they were, South came within a hair of success.

West, trying to choose the least of evils, opened a low diamond, and declarer might have stolen a trick by ducking in dummy, since East might well have put up the king. But South was not clairvoyant — he could not dream that West had led away from the J-10, so he (South) made the more natural play of the queen from dummy. East covered and South ruffed.

Now declarer cashed the top king under South's ace! That clubs and ruffed a club. West pitched a diamond. South discarded a spade on the diamond. In a case of this sort, with an ace, ruffed a diamond, finessed to the spade queen and ruffed the last diamond, then trumped his own last club on the table. Now, with the stage set (he hoped), South led a trump to his ace.

The stage was set, all right, but West was not willing to play the role to which he was obviously being assigned. Maybe East had the jack of spades, but then again, maybe he didn't have that card, and if West found himself on lead at the next trick with the heart king, his forced spade return might be very expensive. It was scarcely possible that declarer would have passed up the chance for a heart finesse if he

Mary Martha Rieth Wed In Rites at Kaukauna

Nuptial vows were repeated at 11 o'clock this morning at Holy Cross Catholic church, Kaukauna, by Miss Mary Martha Rieth and Thomas Puetz. The Rev. Andrew Quella officiated at the double ring ceremony preceding a high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Rieth, 1113

Both are graduates of Kaukauna High school. The bride also studied for two years at Central State college, Stevens Point, and now is employed as a secretary at Ever-Color Printing company. The bridegroom served in the armed forces.

Mrs. Thomas Puetz (Lattimer Photo)

Desnoyer street, Kaukauna, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Puetz, 601 W. Seymour street.

Preceding the bride and her father up the aisle as matron of honor was Mrs. Ray Van den Langenberg, Green Bay. Robert Puetz, Cudahy, served as his cousin's best man and ushers were Ronald Derus, Menasha, and the bride's brother, Mark Rieth.

A buffet luncheon and reception had held A-Q — how could he know? — so, after a brief huddle, West unblocked the heart king under South's ace! That play sounded the death-knell of the contract.

In a case of this sort, with an expert in the West seat, there is no knowing whether any line of play will work, but it is worth noting that if South had cashed the heart ace much earlier, West would have had to be far more imaginative to unblock his king — and without that unblock the spade end-play would be assured.

Michael Wilding, London Divorcee Wed in Las Vegas

Las Vegas, Nev. — Actor Michael Wilding and Mrs. Susan Nell, a London divorcee and interior decorator, eloped here by plane from Los Angeles and were married in a wedding chapel last night.

The British film player, 45, former husband of Actress Elizabeth Taylor, and Mrs. Nell, 42, obtained a marriage license shortly after 10 p.m. at the marriage license bureau in downtown Las Vegas.

Eluding newsmen, they went to the Little Wedding Chapel Around the Corner, also in downtown Las Vegas, where the Rev. James Herndon performed the simple, single-ring ceremony.

Records in London indicated Wilding is the bride's fourth husband. She was reported in the British capital to have been married successively to Andre Simon, not otherwise identified; Roy Kellino, British movie director and cameraman, and former husband of Actor James Mason's wife; and Walter Nell, head of a large dairy company.

Wilding said he and Mrs. Nell had known each other 14 years and first met at a social gathering in London. Their romance started, he added, only about three months ago.

Poor dad. He just hasn't any all-male retreats any more.

Time was when he could go to his club or a bar for some strictly masculine companionship, but nowadays the girls have infiltrated both places.

When he goes fishing, mom goes along — for she is right in the groove along with millions of other red-blooded American girls who have discovered that the best way to catch — or keep — a husband is to take up sports once reserved for men.

Recaptured Youth

For a while dad thought he had found a way to get away from it all — his own sports car. This sleek and speedy plaything was too small to permit taking the family along, and its low-slung bucket seats weren't planned for a lady's comfort. The sales of sports cars boomed in America, and happy men were zooming around the countryside, recapturing their youth and wearing ivy league caps and dashing car coats.

American women took it for a while, and bided their time. They planned a master strategy, and lodged their complaints with the motor moguls in Detroit. They wrote:

"Those are such beautiful little sports cars, and the men seem to enjoy them so much. Can't you make one big enough for the whole family?"

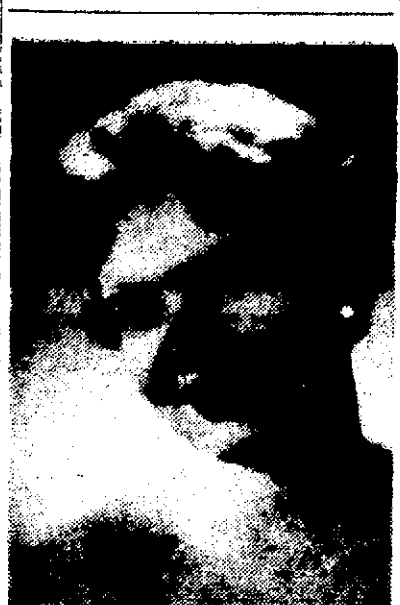

Felt Influence

Automobile manufacturers have discovered, of course, through long and costly research, that the little woman's influence is not to be ignored — not if they want to sell cars.

So now comes the "family sports car" — which, true-blue sports car drivers insist, really isn't a sports car at all.

The new four-passenger car is low-slung and rakish, like the original, but it has many comfort features calculated to please the feminine contingent. The front seat folds down flat,

Parents Tell Engagement of Diane Plamann

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Wagner, 1615 N. Erb street, of the engagement of their daughter, Diane Marie Plamann, to Edward W. Tobin, Jr., son of the Senior Tobins, Waukegan, Ill. No wedding date has been told.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Appleton High school and attended St. Mary's school of nursing, Milwaukee. She is employed as a medical assistant to Dr. Hubert Hammel of Appleton. Mr. Tobin, Jr., was awarded his diploma in June, 1957 from Marquette university and is currently serving with the army at Fort Knox, Ky.

So there goes another male retreat.

Your Problems

Respectable Girls Don't Hang Around Corpse of Dead Marriage

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a highly respectable girl who was brought up to know the difference between right and wrong. I fell in love with a waiter in a restaurant where I used to eat dinner when I splurge. The waiter wanted to first night he took me out he admitted he was married and had a son. He didn't try to kid me. He's a very honest person. He confided that he married this girl because she was pregnant although he didn't love her and she knew it. She wanted him for a husband regardless.

Their marriage was never a happy one and they talked about splitting up long before I came into the picture. This man has asked me to marry him as soon as he can get a divorce, but I don't want people to think I broke up their people. What can I do to protect my reputation?—DINAH

If the marriage is dead, and you don't want to be accused of killing it, don't hang around the corpse. So long as the man is legally married he's not a suitable companion for you. Tell him if and when he's free, to let you know. Under the present circumstances you should have nothing to do with him.

DEAR ANN: Christmas is long gone—but I'm still waiting to hear from some of my friends and relatives saying they received the gifts I sent. For years I've remembered family and friends at graduation, on birthdays, anniversaries and at Christmas. More often than not, I must run into these people on the street or at a social function to learn whether or not my gift was received. My husband says I'm overly sensitive and that I shouldn't expect thanks. I am NOT looking for "thanks." Ann, I just want to know that the gift did not get lost in the mails. Is this asking too much? Is my husband correct in saying that I place too much importance on the acknowledgment? Please tell me.—RUTH

Dear Ruth: People who send gifts should do so because they want to. There is great pleasure in the proper spirit of giving. But to receive a gift and not bother about acknowledging it, is positively boorish. It takes no longer to drop a line of thanks in the mail, or to pick up the telephone, than to unwrap the present. In my opinion, after a reasonable period of time has elapsed and no acknowledgment has arrived, it's perfectly proper to phone the party and ask if the gift was received. There's always a chance that it went astray, in which case, a tracer can be put on it. If the gift WAS received, and the party is red-faced because of his ingratitude, he's earned his discomfort.

DEAR ANN: I just read Mrs. G's letter and I am boiling. This woman gave her husband the divorce, but she made him pay through the nose by tying him financially for life. My husband and I realized early in our marriage that it was a mistake. We had two children. I could have put him through the financial wringer because he wanted out more than I did. But, I had a good position and knew I could manage with just a little support money for the children. I settled for the barest minimum and we parted the best of friends, with no bitterness. I feel that marriage is a two-way street. I accept half the responsibility for the fact that our marriage failed. In my opinion a woman who sticks the alimony dagger into a man is greedy and vindictive. Her ex-husband can have nothing but disdain for her, and she can have no respect for herself.—A LOSER WHO WON

Beauty
Choose Your Face Soap With Care
By Marian Matthews

Choose your soap carefully for its cleansing properties, its hard milled qualities and for its delicate fragrance such as lavender that clings to the skin for hours. There's no substitute for the wonderful feeling a soap and water cleansing gives the face and body and your soap can be delicate enough for the complexion yet efficient for bathing as well. How to cleanse your face with soap and water? There are two schools of thought on this and best way for you to decide for yourself is try them both. First there's the hands and plenty of suds routine. For this, you begin by washing your hands and then splashing warm water over face and throat. Then work a good lather between hands using your cake of soap. Gently massage suds over wet skin surface—using fingertips in circular motion. Don't miss those trouble spots at sides of nose or chin line. Then rinse away all trace of soap. Be very careful to get soap off so that skin won't have a taut feeling. If your complexion can take it, or it is very oily, you might try a second sudsing. Pat face dry with soft towel. Do not pull or otherwise roughly handle your face or throat. For those who prefer a washcloth begin by working a rich lather into a clean wash cloth and rub gently into the skin. Rinse and pat dry with soft towel. Take care of your washcloth, if you use one, by rinsing thoroughly after using. Instead of sending to laundry or tossing with glittering metallic it into your own washing machine where it might be exposed to bleaching or harsh detergents, wash out by hand using your mildest soap. Place soap in dish or area where it can dry on all sides. This is not only good from an economical standpoint—soap lasts much longer when dry—but it is more pleasant to use.

In Good Taste Return of Same Gift Not Advised

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Not long ago I was given a stork shower and received many lovely baby presents—many more than I could possibly use. My daughter has worn several of them but there are a few that she has never used and now has outgrown. A friend of mine who gave one of these lovely dresses just had a daughter of her own. My daughter has never worn this particular dress and I would like to know if it would be proper to give it back to her for her daughter, or might this hurt her feelings?

Answer: I advise you not to give her the dress because, if her feelings are easily hurt, the knowledge that the dress not used by your daughter was the one she had given to you might make her unhappy.

Pushing Plate Aside
Dear Mrs. Post: While having dinner with a friend the other evening, I seemed to have embarrassed her by pushing my dinner plate aside after I had finished eating, and putting my coffee cup in front of me. Was this incorrect? We were not having dessert and the coffee was served before we had quite finished eating our dinner. I thought this much simpler than reaching across the dinner plate to drink my coffee.

Answer: To call undue attention to the maneuver would be bad manners. If the plate was really in the way or unappetizing to look at, it would have been nicer to ask the waiter to take it away.

Go To Wedding
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband died a little over two months ago. My nephew is to be married next month. I am very fond of him and feel sad at having to miss the wedding, but I do not think it would be proper for me to go under the circumstances. What is your opinion?

Answer: I think considering the bridegroom is your nephew it would not be improper for you to be present at the church ceremony, and certainly no one could criticize you for going to the reception for a short time to greet your family and wish the bride and groom happiness.

Two Tiers of Curtain for Window Wall Solves Problems

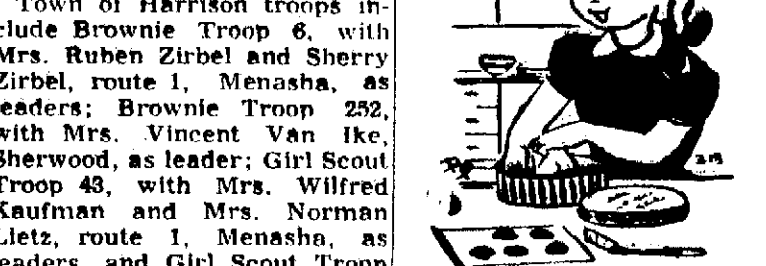

For two window wall problems, two tiers of curtaining are the best of problem-solvers. An extra short tier started at the ceiling covers that meaningless strip of wall above the windows that may contrast with the curtains to the disadvantage of the color scheme. In grandly covering the whole wall, the two tiers also produce plus dramatics for the curtain effect. And windows which seem to start too low for their width seem in much better proportion when they reach all the way upward.

Then the high tier also does another cover-up job—it hides the rod which always shows without it when the curtain are drawn open. This complete concealment of fixtures gives refinement to the curtain design, and makes the wall of fabric look especially well finished and elegant either open or closed.

Separate Flue Needed For Fireplace

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Question: Our ceilings and walls are covered with soot. Our coal-fired boiler has been converted to oil. Servicemen say the burner is working well and that the soot is caused by a chimney leak and from the fireplace in living room. We never use the fireplace. What do you think?

Answer: If the fireplace and furnace are connected into the same flue, this is a possible source of the trouble; a separate flue is needed for each. Leakage might be caused by a break in the wall between the fireplace and boiler flues. I recommend your having competent chimney and fireplace expert investigate. Another possibility is that the boiler doors and sections are not properly sealed, causing soot to seep out, or the boiler may be baffled too much. Draft conditions at the boiler and in the chimney should be checked by a competent oil burner service man; and burner and draft controls adjusted accordingly.

Roof Pitch
Question: I am planning a slope of three feet on a 16-foot roof, using strip asphalt shingles. Is this sufficient?

Answer: It would not be sufficient; minimum practical pitch should be four inches to the foot.

Replacing Tiles
Question: Several tiles have fallen off the kitchen wall. How can I replace them?

Answer: Most tile dealers now sell a special cement or adhesive for the purpose.

88 Driver's Licenses Revoked in Outagamie County Since November

Eighty-eight driver's licenses were revoked in Outagamie county during November through January, the state motor vehicle department's December and January bulletins indicate.

Drunk drivers and bad driving records were major causes. Other leading causes were financial proof violations, 16, ignoring traffic signals, 6, and driving after revocation, 5. Of the 88 drivers, 39 were minors.

Wayne D. Arnold, 17, 1515 W. Sommer drive, 30 days.
Evelyn D. Feldkamp, 18, route 3, Kaukauna, 60 days.
Paul J. Feldkamp, 17, 309 N. Fourth street, Kaukauna, 30 days, also for arterial violation.

James E. Kerrigan, 21, 2004 E. College avenue, 6 months, also 6 months for a bad driving record.
Kurt A. Kronberg, 18, 1926 S. Memorial drive, 30 days.

Cold Weather Will Continue Tonight east of the Mississippi. Snow is expected in New England, the northern middle Atlantic states and the Lakes area. Occasional snow is forecast for the northern and central plains, the northern Rockies and the eastern slopes of the south and central Rockies. Rain is expected on the northwest coast. (AP Wirephoto)

South Still Troubled With Winter Weather

Sun Smiles on Fox Cities as Snow Pelts Gulf Coast States Killing Crops, Flowers

The sun was shining, the breezes were gentle and the temperature was moving away from zero today in the Fox Cities. Winter was continuing to show its best side.

However, the south was getting the kind of winter residents in the Fox Cities area would like to flee most years.

In Florida, three inches of snow fell at Tallahassee, two inches at Panama City on the gulf of Mexico, and an inch less than that at nearby Pensacola. Miami shivered as it braced itself for temperatures expected to fall almost to freezing.

The fall at Tallahassee, possibly the heaviest in the capital's history, continued past midnight and gave a frosty glint to the pre-dawn dark.

Mardi Gras Snowballs
At New Orleans, Mardi Gras throngs tossed snowballs, a rare sport that far south. The 1-inch fall yesterday was New Orleans's heaviest in 59 years.

At Moisant airport, 12 miles from New Orleans, two inches fell. Western Louisiana reported a heavier blanket.

It was white on white together with the bundle-up weather along the Gulf coast in Mississippi, where the snow dropped a thin shawl on white sand beaches at Biloxi and Gulfport.

Mobile, on Alabama's coast, had more than an inch of snow in a 74-hour fall. Ft. Morgan at the mouth of Mobile Bay said Wednesday's deposit amounted to four inches.

Throughout the Gulf coast area, azaleas and camellias that had dared to bloom under the enticement of happier weather drooped and sagged.

Snow covered the ground at Thomasville, Ga., where President and Mrs. Eisenhower were expected today as guests of George Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury. Humphrey owns a plantation near that south Georgia town.

Snow fell for four hours at Thomasville last night. There was enough for snowballs but no official measurement was available.

Jacksonville, Fla., took a triple beating: Yesterday's rain turned to last night's sleet and the sleet in turn changed to snow early today.

Cold to Stay
The tourist trade and crops suffered in many Dixie areas. Some classrooms, however, got a break. Most schools closed at noon yesterday at Baton Rouge and throughout central Louisiana. Both public and parochial schools began classes as usual in New Orleans, but attendance suffered and some dismissed classes shortly after noon.

Students left classrooms and dormitories at Florida State university and staged snowball fights in Tallahassee's snow. And townspeople were quick to get into the act: they built snowmen on their front lawns.

With the weather kicking up in the south, Fox Cities area people are happy to accept the freezing temperatures as their only reminder of winter.

The high pressure area with its mass of cold air still extended from the North Pole to the Gulf of Mexico and weathermen could see no indication the nation's long cold spell would ease before the weekend.

The Fox Cities maximum continued to climb from day to day. Wednesday it was 16. The temperature at 11 o'clock today was 12.

Grantsburg had the state's high Wednesday with a 20 while Park Falls had the lowest maximum at 12.

Some snow flurries were reported Wednesday night and Milwaukee reported a fall of .02 inches. A trace of snow fell in the Fox Cities overnight.

Thinks City Will Change Burner Code

The revised trash burner code which the city has started through official ordinance steps stands little chance of adoption the way it is, Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings told the League of Women Voters Wednesday.

Opposition has developed, she said, to restricting burning within 10 feet of a lot line. A number of people have pointed out, she said, that some lots are not big enough to permit any burning on them with this restriction.

Mrs. Stillings, chairman of the city council's welfare and recreation (ordinance) committee, also told the league there was little chance of passing a "garbage grinder" ordinance.

Such an ordinance would require each kitchen to have a garbage grinder disposal unit. That kind of requirement, she said, represents an infringement of personal liberties to her way of thinking.

League members pointed out that Shorewood's city government paid for installation of the grinders for its citizens. The move was described as a means of saving money in the long run by eliminating garbage collection.

Rural Kaukauna Man Helps Save Two From Fire

Green Bay - A 25-year-old rural Kaukauna bakery truck driver and another man were credited today with saving a grandmother and her 9-month-old granddaughter from a smoke-filled Green Bay house Wednesday.

Don Mayhugh, route 3, Kaukauna, a bakery firm driver, spotted the smoke and hailed Maurice Libal, a postal worker. Together they forced their way into the house and rescued the woman and baby.

Green Bay Fire Chief David Zuidmuller said the grandmother, Mrs. Agnetta McCourt, was overcome by smoke when a kettle burned on the kitchen stove.

Mrs. McCourt was treated at a hospital for smoke inhalation and released Wednesday night. Her granddaughter, Joan McCourt, apparently suffered no ill effect, but was hospitalized for care until the grandmother was released.

The child's mother was at work when the fire broke out. Zuidmuller said damage was minor and confined to the kitchen.

Firemen Answer Two Minor Calls
Appleton firemen answered two minor calls Wednesday, one for a burned out washing machine motor and the other for a car's broken radiator hose.

The burned out motor was at the James Gill home, 827 N. Gillett street, about 12:30 in the afternoon.

The broken hose, which produced steam mistaken for fire, belonged to the car of Ed Maloney, 322 Garfield avenue, Menasha, who had it parked at 531 E. Calumet street about 6:37 at night.

Home Permit
Hendricks Construction company has been given a permit by Building Inspector Walter Bogan to erect a 5-room house, with bath and attached garage, at 1924 E. Melrose avenue for about $11,500. It's the 21st permit of the year for a new home.

Treasurer Recovers
County Treasurer R. A. Bentz is recovering at his home from an attack of virus pneumonia. He expects to resume duties in a few days.

First Annual Affair Post-Crescent to Fete Best 'Forum' Writers

Writers of the 10 best letters to appear last year in the Post-Crescent's "People's Forum" will be feted at a special dinner.

David A. Lindsey, Post-Crescent promotion manager, announced today the event, to be an annual affair, will be held at 6:30 Tuesday night, March 4, at Alex's Supper Club, Appleton.

The writers and their husbands, wives or parents will hear a talk by John Wyngaard, the Post-Crescent's Madison correspondent and columnist.

Surprise Gift
They also will receive special awards, with the writer of the best letter being given the title of honorary editor-in-chief and a surprise gift.

The dinner and awards are an attempt to promote expression of ideas—through the forum—by any of the Post-Crescent's 36,518 subscribers, Lindsey said.

Besides Wyngaard, the Post-Crescent will be represented by a member of management and six of its editors.

Two Cars Collide Near Park Entrance
Cars driven by Lawrence Strieby, 18, 616 E. Circle street, and William Vandenberg, 709 E. Frances street, collided near the entrance of Pierce park early Wednesday morning.

Police said Vandenberg passed Strieby, swerved to the right and parked, causing Strieby to swerve off the road in an attempt to miss Vandenberg's car. Strieby hit a tree and the rear of Vandenberg's car.

Strieby told police he was driving around the park in search of the Appleton Curling club building where a clue in part of Lawrence college's fraternity hazings was located.

Summer Violators
At the November meeting supervisors agreed that most summer fishing violators are persons from out of state who take a chance on fishing without a license or purchasing a resident's license.

Similar programs are now in effect in Minnesota and Michigan. It is reported that they are working successfully, bringing more fishermen into the state and giving increased revenue.

Science Club Hears Talk by Biologist
Thomas Wirth, biologist for the Wisconsin Conservation Department, spoke at a meeting of the Appleton High School Science club Wednesday. He discussed sturgeon fishing and showed colored slides.

Carolyn Ewald, club president, will speak about her summer work at the University of Wisconsin at the next meeting. Charles Scribner is club adviser.

Butter Eating Declines in U. S., Figures Indicate

But Also Consumption Shows Increases During Last Decade

The trend is an important one in Wisconsin dairying, for up to a third of the state's total output of raw milk goes into butter in most years.

The most recent per capita consumption figures for butter, for 1956, show a consumption of 8.7 pounds per person. Current market trends show there has been little increase since.

The figure compares with nearly 11 pounds in 1950, and 16 to 18 pounds in the 1930's.

It is a matter of some significance to the Wisconsin dairyman that the per capita consumption of margarine, usually a lower-priced substitute for butter, has made great strides during the same period.

To 6.1 Pounds

Per capita consumption of margarine rose from 2.4 pounds per person in 1940 to 6.1 in 1950 and in 1956 stood nearly equal with butter, at 8.1 pounds, according to figures collected by the state-federal crop statistics service.

"The relatively low price of margarine resulted in the decline in the use of butter in the home as well as commercially," a bulletin of the service commented.

(Wisconsin retains laws requiring special licenses and taxes for the sale of margarine originally written to discourage the use of the substitute product in the local market.)

Per capita consumption of fluid milk and cream, cheese, dry whole milk and ice cream were reported for 1956, with small declines in consumption of condensed and evaporated milk, and non-fat dry milk.

VFW Plans April Stage Program

Harvey Pierre Veterans of Foreign Wars post, Appleton, will sponsor its fourth annual stage show April 4 at the Lawrence College chapel, Donald Manier, post commander, said today.

The play, "Separate Rooms," will be put on by the Chicago Uptown Circuit Players. Proceeds go to the VFW civic program.

The post will mark its 25th anniversary Feb. 22 with a potluck dinner at VFW hall at 6:30 in the evening.

Introduce Bill to Cover Compensation For Public Officials

Lansing, Mich. — Financial compensation may be in the offing for any legislator who dislocates his jaw in a filibuster or any governor who breaks a bone shaking hands during office hours.

A bill submitted in the Michigan legislature would provide workmen's compensation benefits for public officials injured in the line of duty. The present law excludes elected officials.

City to Build Sewage Plant, Alderman Says

The city administration definitely will comply with state orders to build an estimated $500,000 addition to the sewage treatment plant by 1962, Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings told the League of Women Voters Wednesday.

"A secondary treatment plant, the addition "could be either a trickling filter type or an activated sludge type, either of which is designed to bring a lower oxygen demand by effluent released to the river," she said.

"Mrs. Stillings' remarks were in answer to specific questions posed by the league when it invited her to speak. They came during what amounted to a history of the city's present sewerage system and plant.

Started in 1880s

"It appears," she said, "we began to build sewers in Appleton in the early 1880s. From then until the middle 1930s, these sewers discharged raw sewage directly into the Fox river as did the cities above us and the industrial plants."

First warning that the river was polluted came during the early 1920s after a state board of health study, but it wasn't until the 1930s when federal public works administration funds were available that primary treatment plants were built, the alderman said.

"At that time," she said, "there was a population of 140,000 along the river between Oshkosh and Green Bay, but the sewage equivalent was equal to a population of 750,000 people, considering river conditions."

Appleton, she said, constructed two gravity interceptors, one along each side of the river. A river crossing off Bellaire park connected them. The overall development was aimed at a 34,000 population. The time was about 1935, she said.

Along the two interceptors, she said, overflow outlets were built to empty directly into the river during periods of high rainfall, but no one seems to know how many or where all of them are.

"The sewage treatment plant was designed for 10 million gallons per day. It handles between 5 and 7 1/2 million gallons per day. An inch of rainfall will increase the flow to about 15 million gallons and we open the gates to bypass treatment entirely," she said.

Mrs. Stillings explained the chemical reduction steps within the plant, a procedure which results in separation of solids and grit which are buried on the hill at the plant.

With solids and grit removed, sewage is placed in detention tanks where more solids are settled out. The tanks are open, she said, and a skimmer operates at the surface to collect grease which is burned.

Clear Waters

At the bottom of the detention tanks, raking arms keep the raw sludge flowing into a pump which sends it to digestion tanks. At the top of the digestion tanks, are outlets where clear waters enter and are discharged to the river.

In the digester tanks, Mrs. Stillings went on, bacteriological action works to stabilize the sludge. Released gases are burned to keep the sludge at an even temperature. The sludge finally is removed to beds to dry during the summer. Excess sludge, when there is any, is pumped to lagoons for storage.

Dried sludge, she pointed out, is not a fertilizer, but a soil conditioner.

The alderman outlined the city's program to eliminate sewerage troubles: A 1947 ordinance requiring downspouts on homes and the spending of more than $1 million since 1954 to build storm sewers.

Trash Collection

League members expressed a desire for more frequent garbage and trash collection, moves which Mrs. Stillings told them would cost money and the council is unlikely to buy in light of the $4.50 tax rate hike this year.

There has been some talk, she said, that garbage should be burned in a city incinerator. It would be most efficient, she said, although burning, as the city does in the town of Center, is the most economical.

Mrs. Stillings declined extensive comment on the recreational use of the Fox River. She said, however, that her reading shows the river and Lake Winnebago were called "stinking waters" by the Indians.

Sister Mary Aloysia, Hospital Nun, Dies After Short Illness

Sister Mary Aloysia, 83, stationed at St. Elizabeth hospital since 1937, died at 5:10 Wednesday evening after a short illness. She was born Oct. 28, 1874, in Melrose, Minn., and entered the Franciscan order Sept. 29, 1887, in St. Louis, Mo.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at the hospital chapel with burial in St. Joseph cemetery. Friends may call at the hospital after 12 o'clock Friday afternoon. The Bretschneider funeral home is handling arrangements.

Survivors include one brother, Conrad Hieserich, Sauk Centre, Minn., and one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Lochr, Melrose, Minn.

Francis H. Sumnicht Nominated For Appleton Postmastership

Included among 453 postmaster nominations sent by President Eisenhower to the senate today was Francis H. Sumnicht, acting Appleton postmaster.

Sumnicht — acting postmaster since 1956 — was first among three candidates who passed the civil service examination for the post last summer.

Sumnicht said this morning he is "pleased and gratified" with the nomination.

Sumnicht was born in Appleton Dec. 25, 1921. He attended St. Joseph grade school and is a 1940 graduate of Appleton High school. He served in the coast guard during World war II.

He graduated from Marquette university in 1948 with a degree in business administration. He was advertising manager of an Appleton department store until 1951 when he entered a business partnership with his father and brother, Victor.

Urge Immediate Cut in Federal Taxes, Debt Limit

Racine — Delegates attending a 4-state conference of taxpayer groups Wednesday urged immediate cuts in federal taxes without an increase in the present national debt limit.

About 120 persons from Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and Iowa attended the meeting. The Wisconsin groups were those affiliated with the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin.

Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay), a congressional foe of lifting the national debt ceiling from $275 billion to $280 billion, told the conference the debt limitation served as a "restraint" on spending.

T. W. Korb of Elm Grove, a member of the Wisconsin committee on Hoover commission findings, said, "Uncle Sam can get more out of what he's spending for defense." He said a civilian-managed supply system for the defense department could save more than a billion dollars a year in food and clothing.

Former New London Man Dies in Beloit

Henry K. Morse, 85, Beloit, died about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at Beloit after a short illness. He was born June 2, 1872, in Menasha and was a former New London resident.

Freight Rates Within State May Increase

Public Service Commission Set for Conditional Approval

Madison —(P)— Rail road freight rates on shipments between Wisconsin points will increase up to 5 per cent on some commodities Feb. 15 unless the Interstate Commerce Commission turns down a proposed nationwide freight increase.

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission, in an order Tuesday, said it would permit the increase to go into effect on intrastate shipments with two exceptions and subject to refund provisions. It said it would investigate the increase and hold a public hearing on the matter later. Complaints were filed by several groups and companies opposing the increases in Wisconsin.

The proposed increase, if granted, would be the fourth in a period of about two years. Increases during this period total about 30 per cent.

The PSC on Dec. 31 authorized the 18 railroads operating in Wisconsin to increase rates about 12 per cent, effective Jan. 20. The ICC had previously authorized the increase for interstate shipments, which represent about 90 per cent of the freight business in Wisconsin.

Effective Feb. 15 The PSC in the past has generally permitted the same increases for intrastate rates as the ICC has permitted for interstate shipments.

The current increase request will go into effect on an interstate basis on Feb. 15 unless the ICC denies or suspends it. It involves a long list of commodities, to be increased selectively, rather than a flat percentage increase. The increase was originally scheduled to become effective Feb. 1, but was postponed at the request of the railroads.

The Wisconsin commission said all except two of the proposed increases could go into effect on intrastate shipments, subject to refund in case they are later found to be excessive.

The PSC suspended that portion of the proposal which would increase stop-off charges from $15.43 to $20 per freight car, and increase intra-plant, inter-terminal and intra-terminal switching charges by 20 per cent.

Complaints were filed in opposition to the increase by the Rail Traffic Association, Milwaukee; Wisconsin Manufacturers association, Madison; Wisconsin Paper Traffic Conference, Rhinelander, and other firms and associations.

Valley Expanding

Oshkosh Has Second Largest State College Enrollment

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Drawing largely from the expanding population centers of the Fox Valley, Wisconsin State college, Oshkosh, gradually is increasing its enrollment in comparison with other colleges of the state system.

Second semester student registration figures reported here by Director E. R. McPhee of the college system gave Oshkosh an enrollment of 1,458 students, just behind the first ranking school at La Crosse, which boasted 1,574.

McPhee said the preliminary total in the system for the second semester was 11,603, a new record high for the schools and 841 above the final figure of last year.

Commenting on the immense growth in the student loads of the system, McPhee said:

"Wisconsin has seen the equivalent of a new state college system added to higher education in the past six years." In 1952 there were only 5,750 students.

The enrollment figures also suggest the changing population trends of the state.

Superior state college, for example, once was one of the large schools of the system. Today it has the lowest enrollment, and its 986 total is almost one-third below the largest colleges.

Teens Promote Safety Day

County Council Will Present Views During TV Panel

The Outagamie county Teenage Safety council will promote a "safe driving day" for all county teenagers over a special TV program Feb. 26.

A 5-member panel of high school students will conduct the program, to be sponsored by the Appleton Rotary club.

Named to the panel were Carol Ziehm, Hortonville; Carol Black, Kaukauna; Paul Van-evenhoven, Kimberly; Jane Collier, New London, and Sue Andrews, Shiocton. In addition, representatives from all the 11 high schools belonging to the council will appear.

Aside from promoting the county-wide safe-driving day—tentatively scheduled for March 5—a complete format for program was not agreed upon. A special meeting of the entire council will be held Feb. 24 to discuss details.

Circulation Increases at Public Library

Total circulation at the Appleton public library, listed at 21,530 in January, increased 2,507 over the same period last year. The figures were released by Miss Edith Rechevyl, head librarian, in her monthly report.

A breakdown shows adult withdrawals numbered 14,952, in increase of 1,800. Of those, 7,543 were fiction, an increase of 571; 7,396 were non-fiction, an increase of 1,228; and 13 were foreign language books, an increase of 1.

The juvenile gain was 707 last month with 6,578 books circulated.

The library noted 90,545 volumes on shelves at the end of the month for an increase of 4,840. Adult books numbered 59,540, an increase of 3,519, and juvenile volumes account for 31,005, a hike of 1,321.

Cardholders were listed at 17,098 with 11,028 of them adults and 6,070 children. Registration shows an increase of 2,540 over January, 1957.
